Exciting Experiences Prevail

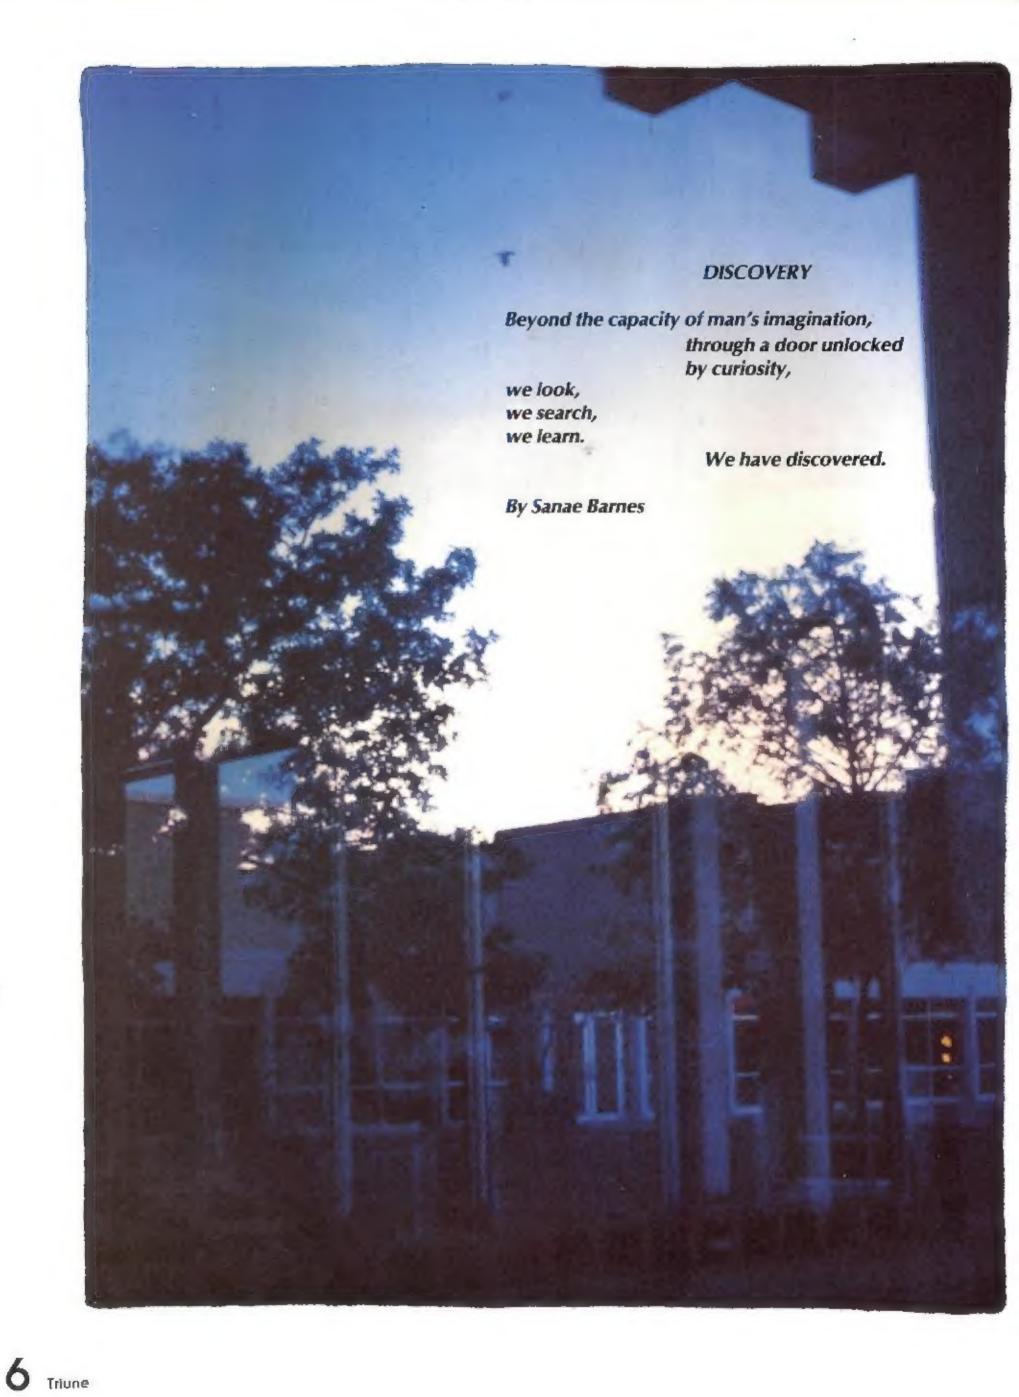

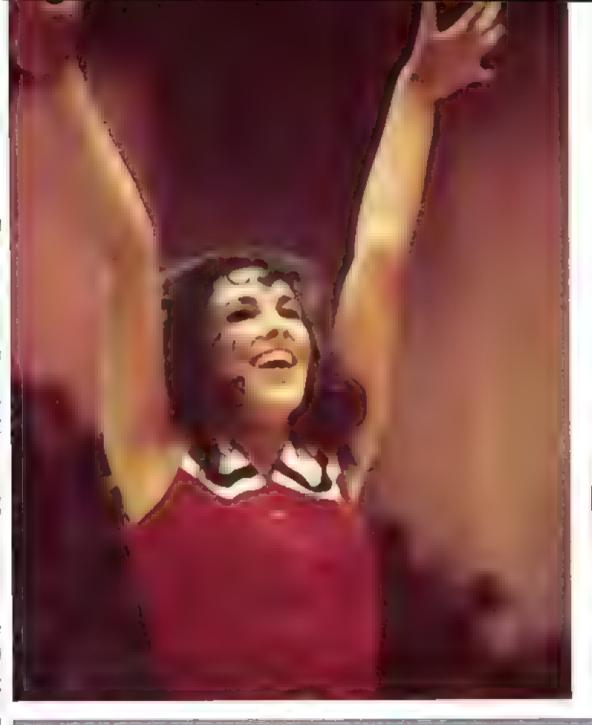

Many exciting experiences occured during the 1982 school year. Opposite Page Above: While studying Greek Literature, Steve Coxey and Robert Hill perform Aristophanes' comedy The Frogs, in Mrs. Lamb's senior honors English class. In the Physics department, an annual process occurred, building bridges. Opposite Page Below: Albert Uribe works diligently on constructing his bridge. For Seniors this was the year that finally allowed them to leave campus to eat lunch. Above Left: Stewart Williams is seen picking up a Quarter Pounder from McDonalds. The Flag Corps were prepared and ready for action with new flags this year. Left: Toni Anderson finishes her routine at one of the weekly pep rallies. Kisses were ample around Valentines Day. Teacher's Point of View

"I believe the friendly spirit and sense of rapport between the students and the faculty at Trinity High School is perhaps the one quality that makes Trinity so different from other schools," was Mrs. Keller Johnson's response when she was asked what she liked best about Trinity. The most frequent reply of the faculty was the wonderful student body. Also, several teachers commented on the friendly relationship between the faculty and the students. Mrs. Barbara Ross went on to comment. "I admit, there are times when you just cannot seem to get their attention, but through floats, all night volleyball. cheerleader camp, and especially in class the students prove to be the best of everything Trinity has to offer!" What Coach Albert Maxwell admired most was the team spirit between the faculty, the coaches, and the students. The students are an essential part of Trinity, but so is the wonderful faculty. Mrs.

Nancy Richardson liked "... the essence of a community within a community." Another aspect of Trinity that the teachers liked was the campus. Mrs. Jan Haddock remarked "The environment and atmosphere of Trinity High School are unique and one contributes to the other." The open space and fresh air of the campus promote a friendly. healthy atmosphere for learning. Mrs. Kaye Moore portroyed another view. "We are extremely lucky to be in a school that looks almost new even though it has been open a decade." Trinity's fourteen years of existence have not destroyed the appearance of the school. Many teachers like the supplies and equipment. The facilities at Trinity are top notch and kept that way by the students and the faculty. The school equipment is in good condition and if extra equipment is needed, it is generally obtained. Indeed, everything from the wonderful student body to the marvelous facilities are contributing factors to the teacher's point of view.

The school board members and superintendent, in cooperation with the school administration, worked to provide students with a well-rounded education. Their years of schooling aided them in making important decisions affecting the furthering of the students' knowledge. One major issue that the board had to debate this past year was creation vs. evolution, which to be taught? The board decided to remain status quo until they see what the courts decide in the Arkansas case.

The local school administration, headed by principal B. J. Murray, saw to it that the school functioned smoothly. If a student developed or wished to avoid a problem, he had the choice of four proficient counselors that he could consult. He could also see the dean of women or men. A new addition to the administrative staff was Mrs. Jan Schronk as Director of Student Activities, in this capacity she coordinated such things as fund raisings and dances. We welcomed Mrs. Lorraine Tatarevich as the new registrar. She equalized class counts and handled registration and school curriculum. Truly, the administrative staff worked to make the students' campus life less difficult.

New Sight to See

At the opening of the 1981-1982 school year, the student body was both honored and pleased to see that sixteen new educators had joined the already talented faculty here at Trinity. The front row consists of Sue Wright, who assists in the attendance office: Millie Heinz, secretary in counseling department; Mary Ann Miller, trainer for students in the athletic departments; Paulinda Krug, the sponsor for NFL and TFL and also the speech teacher; and

Benny Hickerson, who is a member of the English department. The second row is made up of Floy Robinson, who is in charge of keeping attendance records for the Junior Class; June Jacoby, who works in the counseling department; Susan Lumley, coach of the women's track events; and Anna Nohavitza, a member of the business department. In the back row are Bill Shatford, who is dedicating his seven years of experience to the athletic department; Jeff Grimm, the annual staff advisor and the photography teacher: Tim Stout, previously a coach at Central, now a member of Trinity's athletic department; and Willis Nelson, who is using his mathematical abilities to teach geometry, algebra, and trigonometry. Not pictured: Robyan McKinney, Resource, History, English, and Government: Nancy Richardson, English; Mary Jane Thoyer, English and German.

"Wow, this is Trinity!" These were the words of Chris Blackwell and many other Sophomores on their first day at Trinity high school as they became "official" Trojans. If the realization of being in high school hadn't set in during the summer it did at registration. As one Sophomore put it, "I was confused, tired, and ready to cry." Many Sophs felt this way, but did like being able to choose their own classes and periods. The first day arrived with many scared and excited students. Jill Morrow stated, "I felt apprehensive because I wasn't sure about what was going on." Most students were confused as to where their classes were, but made it through the day without too many fotalities.

Something else new that the Sophomores were experiencing for the first time was a Trinity pep rolly. Joe Maloney felt this way towards the first one, "It was great because there was more of a competitive spirit between the classes." The Sophomores really surprised many people by getting so involved during the pep rollies and not being offoid to show their spirit. Some advice that Russ Bothel had to give to oncoming sophs would be. "Stay dear of M.O.C.T." Chris Blackwell said, "Grow up a little before you get here." All in all, the Sophomores came to appreciate and understand the pride taken in being a Trinity Trojan

Junior Point of View

Slawly but surely, louder and stronger, the Junior class struggled to ascend from their black hole of passiveness. In the first few weeks the Junior class appeared to have lost their enthusiastic spirit from the previous year. Pep rallies seemed to lack the excitement that they possessed in their Sophomore year. In the words of Wendy Johnson, "It takes something really exciting to get them to stand up." Numerous reasons were heard around the Trojan campus explaining the source of this decline in activeness. The cause according to Christy Crowell was, "... because we were stuck in the corner of the gym in pep rallies." The reason seen by Mike Douthit was contrasting in that he believed "... most of the Juniors didn't care whether we won the spirit stick or not."

As the year progressed the Junior class started to peer out from their depression and become involved in activities and contests. Winning the first prize in the homecoming floot contest gave the Juniors the inititive they needed to come out of their shell and stand up and be counted. The Juniors finally got up the nerve to come alive and let the spirit inside of them take over. They won three spirit sticks in succession with this new burst of exatement and enthusiasm. According to Fred Clark, "I think that the Junior spirit didn't decrease, instead it rose steadily."

At last the Juniors saw that they were indeed still the same class that had previously stunned the entire student body, faculty and administrators with their vigorous attitude and indestructable spirit. The feelings of Joe Kalbfleisch sums up the ideas of the majority of Juniors in saying that, "We're the best Junior class there has ever been and in my opinion ever will be."

Senior Point of View

One momentous event of the year to seniors was their eighteenth birthday. It brought mixed feelings for 81-82 seniors because of a new law effective September 1, 1981 that prohibited the sale of liquor to anyone under nineteen. This caused many controversies across Trinity's campus as students expressed their point of view on the unfairness or benefits of the law. Plans of "partying" legally on one's eighteenth birthday were out of focus as senjors could expect to be minors for their lost year of high school. The most common argument against the Ilquor law was one that John Alcedo used. "When you're seventeen you can be put in joil and when you're eighteen you have to register for the draft, but you can't drink until you're nineteen." His belief echoed through the senior class as seniors voiced their opinions over and over on the repressed feeling the law produced. Dana Suhr spoke for numerous students when she protested that "When you're eighteen, you're independent enough to decide for yourself whether you should be able to drink." Others, Sharla Roach for one, felt exactly the opposite. Her idea on the drinking law was that "It's fine because most eighteen year olds don't have enough sense to decide for themselves whether they should drink." Another viewpoint similar to this, except with even stronger terms, was related by Joe Lovelady. "I think they should raise it to twenty-one!" proposed Joe as he affirmed the advantages of the age limit

Whether students were for or against the law, most agreed on one point. "They changed the law to keep liquor out of high school; If you want to drink you're gonna find a way to get it." claimed Steve King and many others.

50, while the drinking law was obviously something Trinity's seniors could not change, it was still a major issue that let seniors freely practice a favorite pastime: relating their point of view!

This season was one of rebuilding for the Trojan football team and one of success, too, as foreseen by local sports authorities. The determination to win and the tough competition presented served to unite the team toward one goal - victory.

The season began with the Trojan's sound defeat of 3 uncompromising teams. The Trojans dominated the Richland Rebels throughout the opening game. With quarterback Jay Fitch's and Walt Zartman's combined touchdowns, the Trojans came out 21-14 victors. The following week the home team dealt Thomas Jefferson a crushing blow. Junior Jerry Lindsay and senjors Scott Adams and quarterback Brian Michelson joined forces and shut out the Patriots 35-0. However, Trinity was not satisfied with only one victory at Birdville Stadium. They returned to tramp over the Haltom Buffaloes 28-0. Adams and Fitch again brought the Trojons to a 14-0 lead, and a Bruce Keffer fumble return along with a Michelson to Lindsay pass put the Trojans up another notch on the victory list.

The Trojans then entered district play. Although the first game was a serback for the team because Grand Prairie slipped by with a 14-13 win, the second game proved Trinlty had what it took to win. The Irving Tigets were suffering a 14-0 deficit at halftime as a result of two touchdowns by

Adams. Fitch collaborated with Mike Patak for an additional-16 ;yard touchdewn: and along with anothers Adams' score from the 2 two aerial interceptions by Steve Pilddy and Ray Holtzclaw led to a 29-6 victory by the Trojans.

The following week Trinity marched ever the South Grand Prairie Warriors with a 35-7 victory. Fitch daried for 19 yard run to the goal in the first quarter. Two second quarter touchdowns by Jerry Lindsay and Scott Adams added to Cole Jones' score from the 2 and Adams' 27 yard touchdown Trinity emerged the champs.

The ensuing game found Trinity up against the team that had ruined the Trojans' perfect season last year the Duncanville Panthers. The Trojans were down 7-0 in the first quarter but fought back to even the score in the second quarter. Well into the fourth period the Trojans's scored again with Adams leaping for the score and Fitch later sneaked over the line to make it 22-20, and the homecoming crowd was ecstatic.

Trinity's next contender was Nimitz. The Vikings were tough, but Michelson led the Trojans to victory. Adams with a 2 yd. run. Zartman with a 7 yd. pass. Michelson with an 18 yd. run, along with another Adams' score put the Trojans over the Vikings 28-14.

MacArthur put up a fight, but Trinity trampled the Cardinals 30-15. Three Adams' touchdowns combined with Zartman's 15 yd, score kePt the Trojans in the 5A-9 race

Trinity closed out the regular season with a shutout of the home rival team of L.D. Bell Raiders. Halftime saw the Raider's behind 17-0 due to Buda Browning's field goal and Cole Jones' 20 yd. touchdown, followed by Adams' 4 yd touchdown, in the third quarter Fitch taked to Adams and kept for a 2 yd. score. Trinity's offense came on strong again in the fourth period to obtain a final Fitch touchdown

Although a one point loss kept the Trojans from being district champs, the season ended successfully with twenty-four Trojans receiving post-season recognition.

J.V. Looks To State

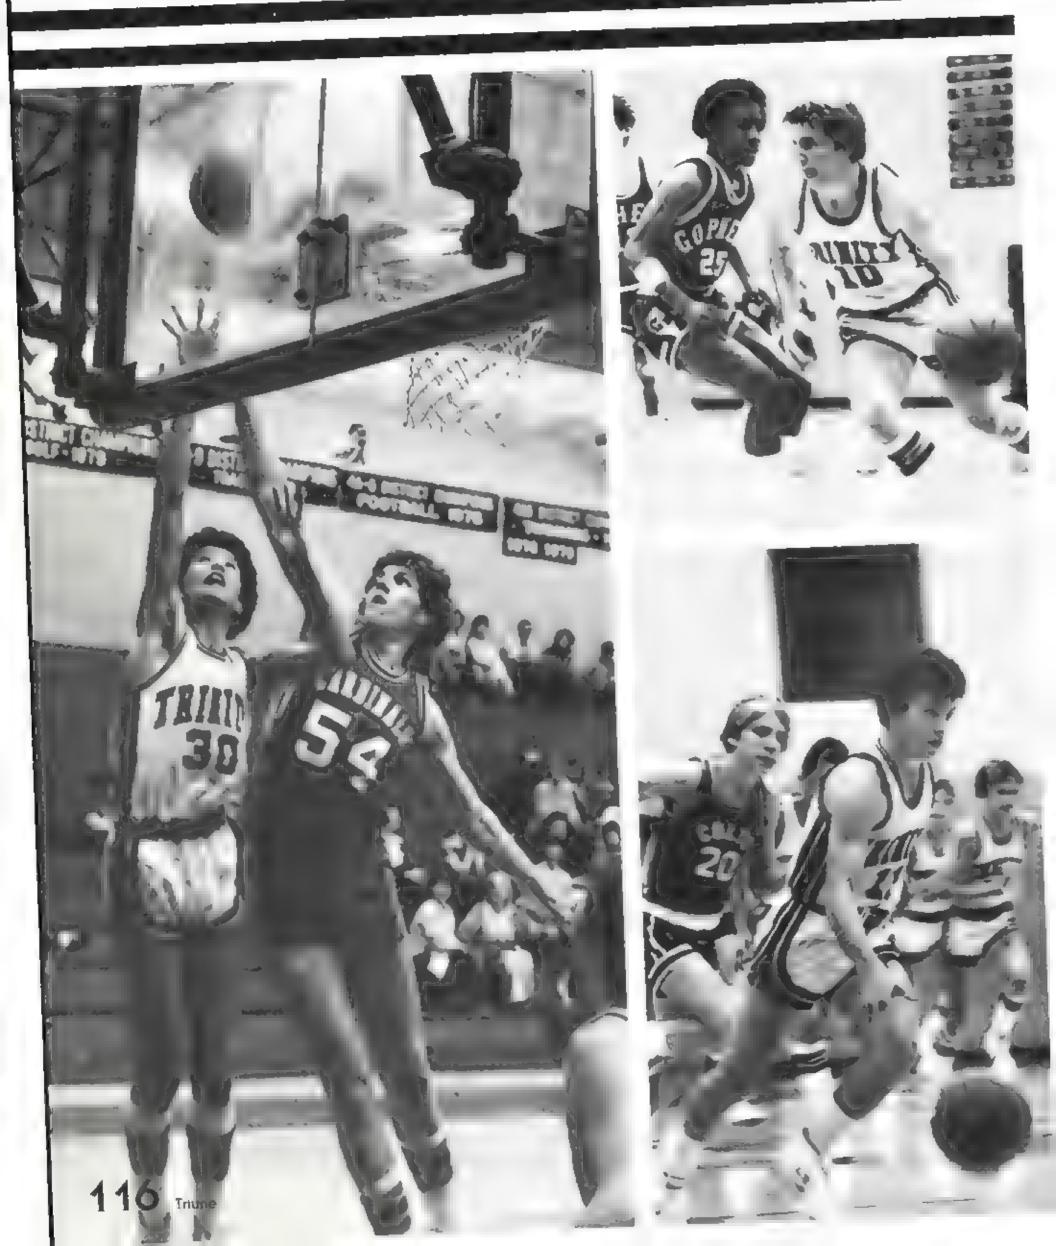

The Trinity Junior varsity football team is designed for the preparation of future varsity players. The ability of this year's team was abvious from the start. They diligently struggled to accumulate an incredible 10-0 record. 1981 saw the first time in Trinity's fourteen year history that a JV team has gone undefeated and untied for an entire season. With impressive wins such as the 40-8 defeat of 5outh Grand Prairie and the 48-6 humiliation of Irving MacArthur, this feat was easily accomplished. Perhaps the JV's most impressive victory, although not shown by the scareboard, was their 12-6 win over the L. D. Bell Blue Raiders. They overcame not only the sophomore team but also the "B" team which consisted of mostly juniors.

The invincible defense of this team was one of their major assets. They shutout their opponents five times. The powerful Trojan offense accumulated a total of 246 points all season, while the defense allowed only 47 points. With this combination the prospects for next year's varsity football team could not look better

With an impressive season such as this and a little training. Trinity will surely be looking forward to a district title and possibly a state championship.

JV Cagers Unpredictable

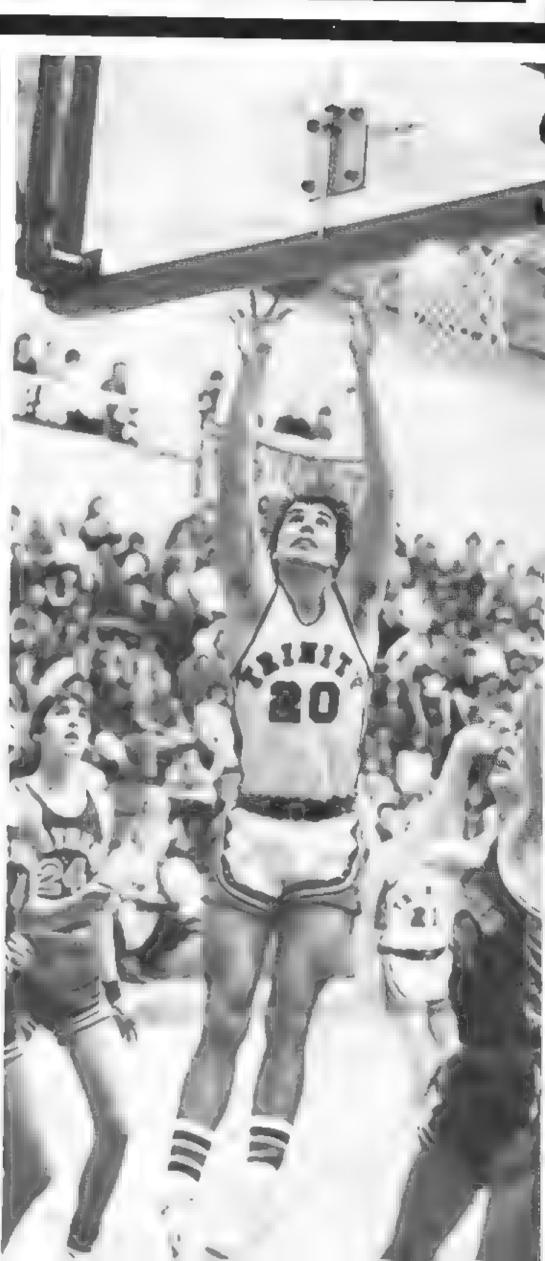

For the Trojan J.V. Cagets, the 1981-82 basketball season proved to be a long and turbulent one. Under the instruction of Coach Dale Jackson, the Trojan cagers tried to achieve their peak efficiency through tedious and diligent practice. The B-team started district off on a high note with a win over Nimitz, only to lose to Duncanville in their second encounter. The Trojons then bounced back to soundly defeat irving 60-43. To finish off the first half of district competition, the B-team fell to Grand Prairie. South Grand Prairie. MacArthur, and Bell. Starting off the second half of district with two decisive victories over Nimitz and Duncanville, while drapping only one game to irving, the Trojans appeared to be on the rebound. This facade quickly faded as the Trojans came up empty-handed without another victory in the remaining district games. The J.V. Cagers finished district with a 4-10 record and the season with a 9-17 record. Although the Bteam's record was less than impressive, the team has gained valuable experience and looks toward next year with high aspirations.

Varsity Wins Birdville

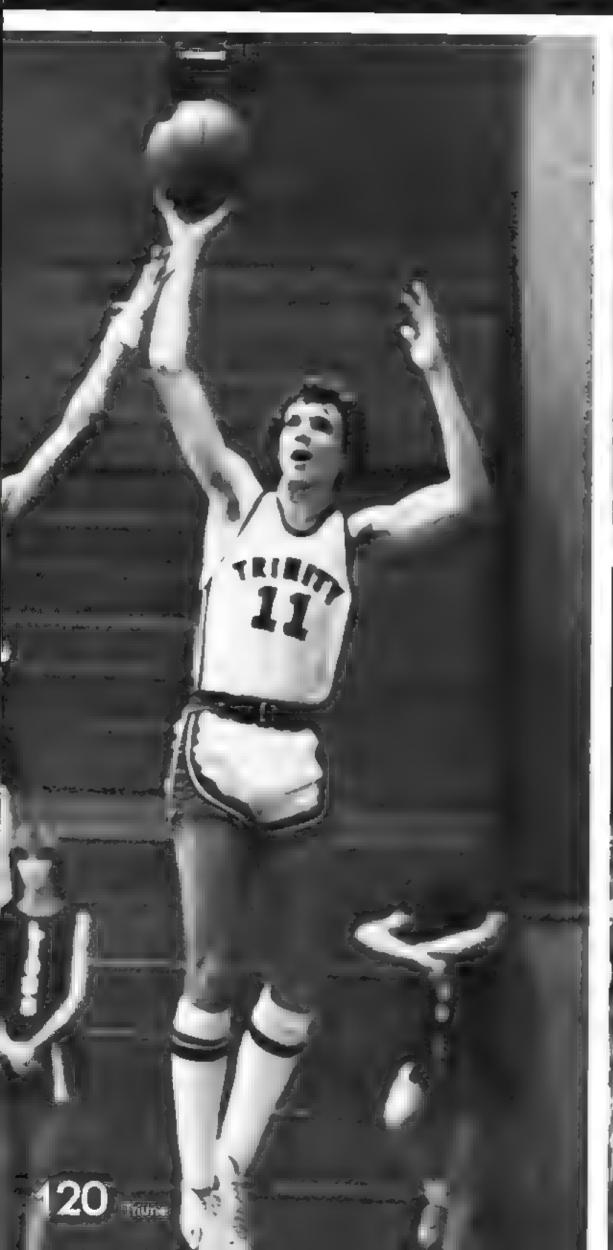

The Trinity varsity basketball team had a most impressive season this year. In pre-district the cagers ran their record to 9-0 before falling to R L. Turner. Prior to this loss, the Trojans had narrowly defeated Southwest 44-43 to win the Birdville Tournament. During late December the Trojans journeyed to Fort Worth to participate on the annual Westside Lions Club Tournament. The Trojans faired well in this prestigious tournament as they returned with a fifth place trophy. After an impressive pre-district, the varsity squad opened District 5A-9 play with their best offensive game of the season as they defeated Nimitz by an almost inconcervable score of 101-71. After this decisive victory, the Trojans went on to drop their next two games to Duncanville and Irving. Trinity then bounced back with a victory over Grand Prairie behind the scoring of Paul Rice. Although four out of the five starters hit double figures in the Trojan's next game. Trinity was unable to pull out another close one and fell to South Grand Prairie. The Trojan cagers, however, finished out the first half of district as they soundly defeated MacArthur and their crosstown rival L.D. Bell.

Cagers Sight Goals

The Trojan Cagers started off the second half of district play on a good note with victories over Nimitz and Irving behind the scoring of Willie Henderson. The Trojans then went on to meet Duncanville in the closest game of the season. Although Trinity played an excellent game, they were unable to overcome the pressure of a triple-overtime. and lost the game 56-45. Following this crucial loss, Trinity could not recapture their competitive spirit as they dropped their next three games to Grand Prairie, South Grand Prairie, and MacArthur. The Trojans closed out the season with a heartbreaking loss to L.D. Bell. The Varsity Cagers, under the instruction of Coach Paul Ingle, concluded the year with a 7-7 district record and an excellent season record of 22-12. There were also several individual successes among the team. Both Rick Ford and Paul Rice were chosen to the Second Team All-District, while Willie Henderson and Walt Zartman received Honorable Mention for district play. Trinity's Varsity Basketball Team kept in tradition with past Trojan teams by acquiring outstanding records and by demonstrating sportsmanship and competitive play throughout the season.

Girls Earn Best Record

Surprises and action: those two words described the 81-82 Varsity Girls' Basketball team. Even though the girls did not gain the district title, they still compiled their best season record ever under Coach Jim Wells with 14 wins and 18 losses.

This team competed in several taurnaments in addition to their regular season games. They captured 2nd place in the DeSoto Tournament and 4th in both the Birdville and H.E.B. Tournaments.

The Trojans had every right to be proud of the girls' hustle and determination as three players were elected to All-Area honors. Among those was Julie Embry, a sophomore whose baskets were worth 270 points for the year. Other Trojans on the elite team were Kim Standridge and Terri George.

The girls' Basketball team was led in district points by Angela Jeans, a sophomore promoted from the J.V., who sunk 111 points.

The 1981-82 Varsity Girls' Basketball team's unity prevailed as they exhibited a competitive and spirited atmosphere at every game.

JV Shoots A Good Season

The Trinity girl's varsity basketball team can look forward to several aggressive prospects for the '82-'83 year, judging from the J.V. team this past year. Coached by Mrs. Diane Innis and Mrs. Susan Lumley, the girls participated in three tournaments They won first place in the DeSoto tourney, second in the Denton tourney, and first in the H.E.B. tourney. They tied with Nimitz for district with an impressive season record of 28-4.

One highlight of the season was their sixth district game against MacArthur in which Trinity fouled out all but three of their players: Sandra Riggs, Barbara Smith, and Mary Hort. Yet, Trinity came from behind in the last quarter to win the game 35-34. Another memorable feat was the J.V.'s 48-45 victory over Duncanville. Rachel Brown and Sandra Riggs combined for 27 points as Trinity emerged victorious, which marked the first time a Trinity girls team had beaten Duncanville in basketball.

The high scorers for the season were Barbara Smith, with a total of 128 points and Cindy Boaz, with a total of 108 points. The other three starters included Sandra Riggs, Rebekah Rousch, and Rachel Brown.

Girls Volley to Victory

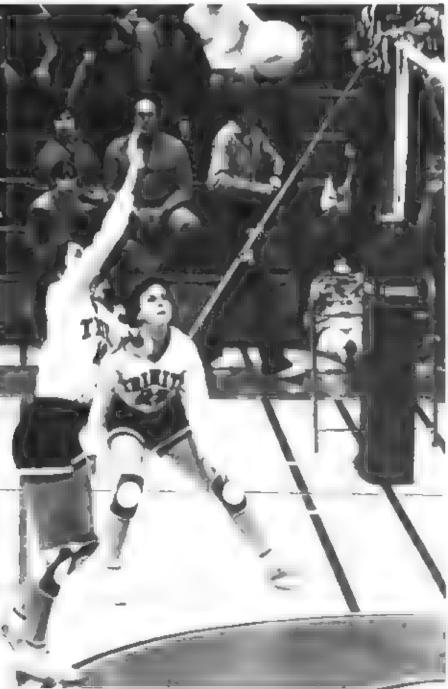

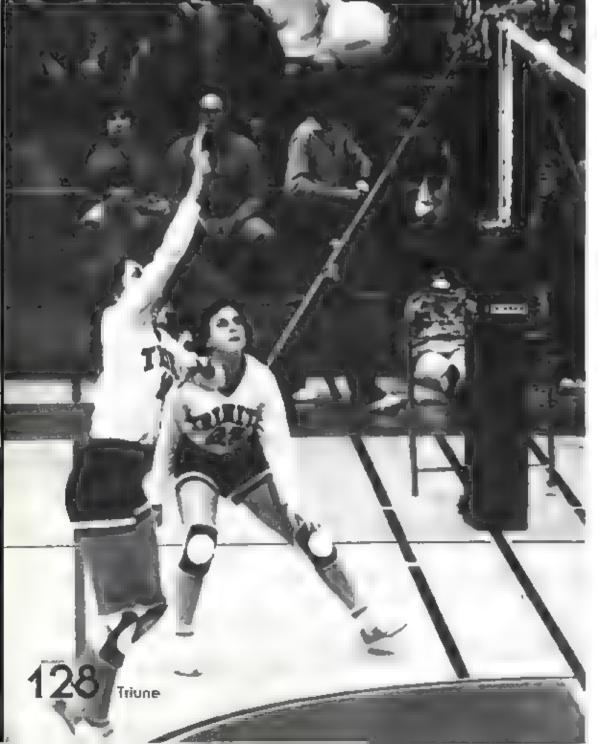

The Trojan volleyball team struggled this year to be superlative in every aspect of their game. They strave to enhance their skills daily through repeated practices and workouts which proved to be extremely tedious. Working hard with little reward, the team strained to perfect every detail of the game. The volleyballers united their efforts to create a winning team through their incessant determination and drive. They achieved an overall seasonal record of 20 wins and only 11 losses, including both victories over L.D. Bell due to their disqualification.

Under the direction of Coach Diane Innis and assistant coach Susan Lumley, the volleyball team improved tremendously from their previous year, which was evidenced in the high quality volleyball action of their games. Due to this excellent class of performances numerous All-District honors were given this year to outstanding Trojan players. Kim Standridge was awarded with First Team All-District, while Beverly Holden and Teresa Deel were received on Second Team All-District, and an All-District Honorable Mention was presented to Mary Hayes. Along with these superb achievements, the title of Coach of the Year was deservingly given to Diane Innis, who made this winning year passible for the Trojans.

Girls Bump With Style

Teamwork is the key to success in any sport in which one may choose to participate. This year both the varsity and junior varsity volleyball teams demonstrated just how well they could effectively use this cooperation to achieve their main goal, victory. Through several routine practices and scrimmages, each member of the Trojan team soon found that they had to rely on the other members to complete their expectations of a victorious volleyball team. With the utilization of teamwork and the application of the superb experienced guidance of Coaches Dianne Innis and Susan Lumley, the Trojan volleyball teams united, and slowly but surely, watched as their visions finally transformed into reality. They accomplished an extremely impressive winning season. In addition to the reward of victory, each member of the Trojan teams received something beyond any measure - the friendship between players that is achieved only through the many long, hard hours of working toward a common goal, and then reaching it.

Varsity Upsets 5A-9

This team's varsity baseball season proved to be a successful one. They opened the season by splitting a doubleheader with Abilene Cooper 8-6 and 9-0. After these games Trinity ran off seven runs to Haltom's five. They dropped their next two contests to F.W. Arlington Heights 12-0 and Arlington 3-1. In two close decisions the Trojan sluggers defeated Eastern Hills 8-7 and lost to Haltom 2-0. They destroyed their next two opponents by scoring 18 runs against Lamar and 12 against Trimble, while only giving up 10 total runs. By slim margins, Trinity lost their next two decisions to O.D. Wyatt 10-8 and Richland 4-3. The varsity then bounced back to a 7-3 win over Lamar before losing to the Arlington Colts 5-4 to close out the regular season. Trinity's District pre-season did not accurately depict their excellence during district play. They opened 5A-9 play with an exciting 4-3 victory over Grand Proirie. The Trojans were then shutout by Irving 2-0. They bounced back with an 8-4 defeat of South Grand Prairie. The Trojans then forced the eventual 5A-9 champions Duncanville where they lost 8-2. After the Dunconville loss Trinity rollied to 6 straight wins.

Trojans Win First-Half

After tying with the Duncanville Panthers for the first half title Trinity opened the second half with a strange victory. The Trojans were declared winners over Grand Prairie in a 6-6 tie on an umpire's ruling. They then completed their streak with wins over Irving 2-1 and South Grand Prairie 4-1. Trinity next faced their arch-rival Duncanville. They were again beaten by the Panthers 8-4. In defeating Nimitz 2-0 the contenders kept up the Trojan spirit while still being in position for the title. Unfortunately, after being defeated by MacArthur 1-0 they were no longer in contention for the title. They closed the season with a defeat of Bell 7-3. Although they didn't advance to the playoffs, Trinity carried an autstanding 10-4 record through district play.

Through clutch hitting and speed. Kip Gowland led the team in batting with an impressive .415 average and in stolen bases with 14. Scott Bowen proved to be the team's power man with 15 RBI's. In the pitching department Steve Bohannon accomplished a 7-2 record and was named to the All-District team while Michael Patak maintained a 1.60 ERA.

J.V. Future Looks Good

The soccer team was made up of many highly skilled individuals. Monty Marlin scored 3 goals during the season. Kenny Migchelbrink scored twice while on varsity and once while on junior varsity. Don Gilliland, Alfred Browning, and Steve Moss each scored two goals. John Gilliland, and Albert Esmailzadeh both scored once. Albert Esmailzadeh had 13 attempts while Don Gilliland had 12. John Gilliland and Kenny Migchelbrink each had 9 attempts. Although 1982 was not a successful season, the varsity soccer team is looking forward to increased success next year.

Region Champs . . .

The Trinity swim team had an excellent year. Winning the district meet. Regionals, and qualifying numerous swimmers for the state meet were examples of their success.

As the district meet approached the team swam through it with accustomed ease, coming out on top. At Regionals the boys' team did a double take from the district meet, placing first, second, and sometimes third in most events. This terrific performance gained them the regional title. The girls, with limited team members, placed third. The combined score of both girls and boys outdistanced all other competitors. The performances at Regionals qualified eleven swimmers for Austin's state meet.

The boys' 200 yard medley relay consisted of Tim McDonald. John Sepanski, Guy Page, and Greg Crouch. The boys' 400 free relay included Tim McDonald, Jim Brigman, Tom Ottoson, and Joe Kalbfleish. John Sepanski and Joe Kalbfleish also qualified in the 100 yard butterfly while Tim McDonald swam the 100 yard backstroke in addition to the relay. The girls' 400 yard freestyle relay included Denise Dansby. Kim Barnett, Lisa Hingst, and Ginger Christian.

We're Number One

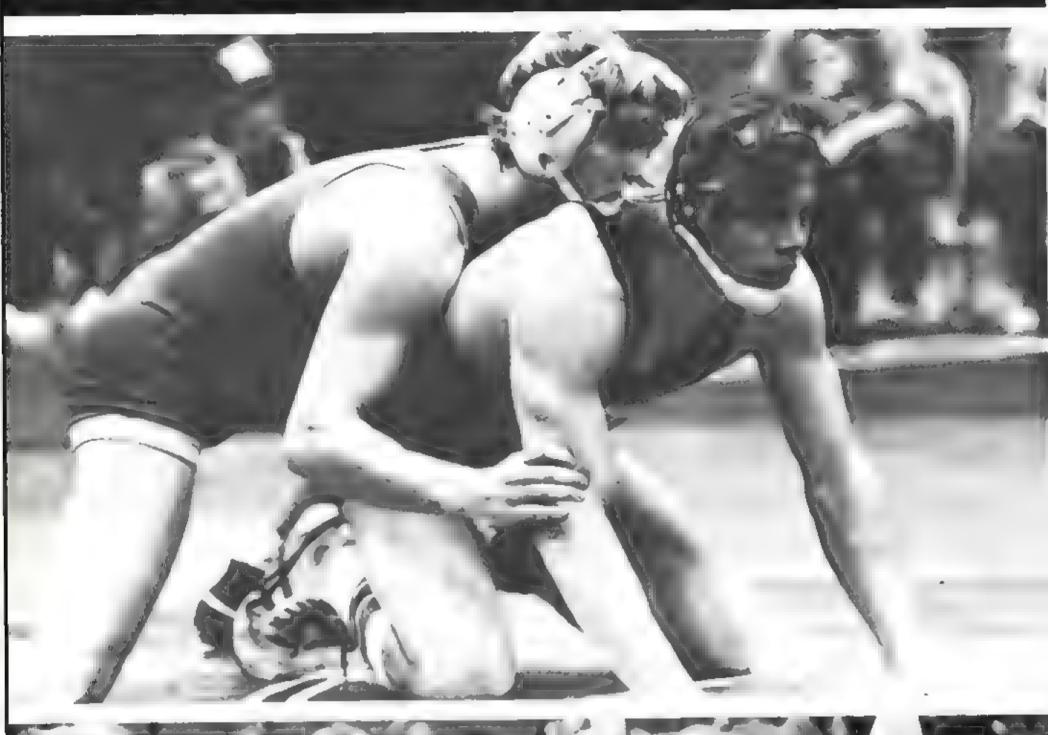

Concentration, that was the name of the game in diving. The approach, the mount, and the dive demanded precision and exact movements. Hours of practice were spent learning new dives and perfecting old ones.

The THS divers worked hard this year. Although there were only five divers, they did an outstanding job. The only girl diver was Tonya Williams. In her first year of diving she placed second at District and sixth at Regionals, a great accomplishment for her. The other divers were Robb Miller. Brison Phillips, Daryl Pate, and Chip Irby. Chip was the only junior. Although not able to dive at the District meet because of a broken eardrum, he contributed greatly by assisting as a coach. The remaining three Seniors took first, second and third at District: Miller, first; Phillips, second; and Pate, third. At the Regional meet: Miller, again first; Phillips, fifth; and Pate, sixth.

Though only Miller went to the State meet, the performance of all the divers this year was excellent.

Wrestling for Victory

Strength, quickness, and dexterity were three major factors needed in wrestling. The Trojan Wrestling Team exceeded all these qualifications. They went through strenuous workouts throughout the year practicing their techniques repeatedly. Wrestling was divided into weight classes. These weight classes ranged from ninety-eight pounds, which was a lightweight, to over one hundred eighty-five pounds, which was a heavy weight. Each man was placed into one of these classes and competed against others in his weight division. Often a man might have competed in a heavier division for even more competition. In district tournaments and duals, strict rules worked to prevent any type of injury, but in free style competition rules were less restrictive.

Team scores were determined by several positions held. A "take down" scored two points, a "reversal" meant moving from the bottom to the top of an apponent and scored two points. An "escape" was getting out from under an apponent and only scored one point. Another position the "pin fall" was determined by both shoulders pinned to the mat and received two points. Overall, one had to be in excellent physical condition to be successful on the THS Wrestling Team.

Wrestlers Pin Opponents

The Trinity Wrestling Team was victorious this past year after working hard since September. Their final dual record was satisfactory having won six. lost seven, and tied one. They did well in the tournaments, in the R. L. Turner Tournament they came out in eighth place and in the Equitable Tournament, Trinity placed fourth. In their tournament, the wrestling team placed sixth and later took second place in the district meet.

The Trinity Wrestling Team had twelve members qualify for regionals. They were: Keith Hicks. Steve Russell. Charles Mize, Terry Dale, Jeff Harrison, Mark Carl, Eric Ruffu, Mike Douthit, Scott Green, Bruce Keffer, Bobby Keplinger, and Jack Franke. At the regional tournament held at Bishop Lynch. Trinity's Jeff Harrison and Mark Carl both placed third. Eric Ruffu also placed third. Scott Green, Bruce Keffer, and Jack Franke placed second. Of these wrestlers three qualified for state. These three were: junior Scott Green, senior Bruce Keffer, and junior Jack Franke. Bruce Keffer took second in state competition. Overall, the wrestling team had a good year, winning several honorable places for their members.

Shooting for a Goal

Running, dribbling, shooting, and tackling was what soccer was all about. During a 90 minute game, the average soccer player ran about 7 miles. Soccer, the world's #1 team sport, is on the slow rise in America and at THS. This trend continued in 1982.

To be good in soccer, practice was essential. During the first semester, the soccer team did nothing but practice for district competition in February. The varsity soccer team had seven district games and four non-district games. The team won one, lost nine, and tied one. They beat Grand Prairie 4 to 0. The team also tied against Bell. Even though it was Tim Stout's first time to coach soccer, he did fairly well.

The soccer team was made up of many highly skilled individuals. Monty Marlin scored 3 goals during the season. Kenny Migchelbrink scored twice while on varsity and once while on junior varsity. Don Gilliland, Alfred Browning, and Steve Moss each scored two goals. John Gilliland, and Albert Esmailzadeh both scored once. Albert Esmailzadeh had 13 attempts while Don Gilliland had 12. John Gilliland and Kenny Migchelbrink each had 9 attempts. Although 1982 was not a successful season, the varsity soccer team is looking forward to increased success next year

JV Soccer Plays in UIL

September found over 50 boys trying out for the 30 available soccer team positions. With 15 people on each team and 11 needed to play a game they did not have room for injury.

The J.V. and varsity soccer teams were both coached by Tim Stout, formerly from Central Junior High. The J.V. team had five district and four non-district games. They won three, lost five, and tied one. The team beat Irving High School, South Grand Praine, and L.D. Bell. The Trinity-Bell game was won by a penalty kick. Brian Chandler mode the winning goal resulting in a 1-0 final score

The members of the J.V. were very talented soccer players. Contributing players were Siven Khongsavath, Ronnie Keeble, and Mike George who each scared two goals. Kevin Lowry and Chris Boyd also scored. In addition to scoring, Kevin Lowry made two assists during the course of the season. Others making assists were Dannie Halt, Chris Boyd, Vira Vangpradith, Brian Chandlet, and Ronnie Keeble. Russell Steadman also proved to be an outstanding goalkeeper, Throughout the season, Russell only allowed 16 goals. Despite losing the five games, the team did not get discouraged, not give up, but continued trying until the very end. Altogether, the junior varsity soccer team showed promise for the future

A Vision of Skill

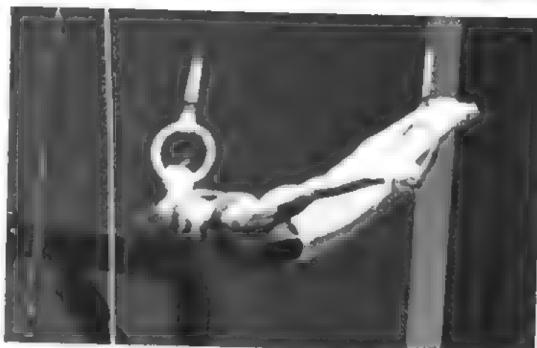

Ms. Barbara Ratts coached the girls' gymnastics team to their success in 1982. Her all-around girls were Rebecca Eden and Shari Willis. All-around competitors are those who work all four pieces of equipment. They must have increased stamina to participate in four strenuous events during just one meet. The consistant high scorers on each event were as follows: Vault — Shari Willis and Kathlina Wallace; both juniors. Uneven Bars — Michelle Shaeffer; sophomore and Shari Willis: junior. Balance Beam — Mellssa McCay and Rebecca Eden; both seniors. Floor Exercise — Kathlina Wallace and Shari Willis.

The team looked great through all of their meets. Ms. Ratts said: "They worked hard and were dedicated: the biggest improvement was in the area of unity. They really worked well together." The team worked out every day fifth and sixth period, individually and with the group, to constantly build the skills needed to be great competitors. They competed well throughout the season.

Team Builds For Future

Despite the fact that this was to be a rebuilding year, the Trojans gymnastics team made an incredible comeback after losing ten seniors from 1981's 2nd place state team. This team was a young one, consisting of only two senior competitors, Stephen Lee and Harvey Williams, Mr. Jerry Milan ws the men's coach. His all-arounders were Senior Stephen Lee and junior Grant Qualis. The most consistent scorers in each event were as follows: Floor Exercise -Grant Qualls and sophomore Damon Cunningham; Side Horse — Junior John Singletary and Damon Cunningham: Rings — Stephen Lee and Grant Qualis; Vault — Grant Qualls and Stephen Lee; Parallel Bars — junior Tom Croxen and Harvey Williams; High Bar - Junior Rocky Lapresti and Grant Qualls. Mr. Milan sald his men were constantly building and, though they were a young team, will hopefully become a top contender in the years to come. Although the Trojons did not go to state as a team, they did have individual qualifiers. Those who qualified were: Stephen Lee on rings and Rodney Frazier on floor exercise. Coach Milan was happy with the team's seasonal turnout and feels sure that it will get even better next year.

Team Serves With Style

The Trojan tennis team worked out year-round. They went from heat up to the 90s down to extremely cold weather. Tennis was not a short season sport. Their fall schedule of meets began nearly as soon as school did with the first challenge match on September 22nd. After the first meet there was no rest. Meets continuously went on through May.

The tennis program this year was made up of a majority of sophomores and juniors, which will be very helpful in years to come. The teams captains were made up of the three senior members: Tessa Barfield. Steve Hall, and Mindy Hobart.

Couch Cal Hopkins was constantly working and helping the team stay in shape and improve their game. The thoughts of each tennis member was to SCORE; which meant to:

Team Swings Great Year

Trinity's tennis team spent many extra hours after school practicing to be prepared for challenge matches and tournaments. Whether it was endless drills, running lines, or practicing against each other, the teams dedication was not in vain. Part of the success must be credited to Coach Hopkins. He was out in the sun giving tips and pointers as he deemed necessary. While students came out of Trinity with a better game, they also learned responsibility, an important part of Trinity Tennis.

The girls singles were: Teri Borg, Michelle Chambers, and Leann Skinner. The boys singles were: Tim Brown, Tuan Nguyen, and Louis Howell. The girls doubles teams consisted of Tessa Barfield and Mindy Hobart, Missy Capello and Lynn Gutierrei, and Cindy Fletcher and Cindy Fuller. The boys doubles teams consisted of Steve Hall and Kevin Folse, Mike Benser and Steve Gricuius, and Tim Burns and Pete Nguyen.

With only three seniors on this year's tennis team, they did remarkably well and improved their game with every practice.

Improvement Sought

The Trojan golf season in 1982 was something of a disappointment following three consecutive district golf championships. Inexperience was the primary cause of the team's inconsistency. However, with Lance Wingfield and Kirk Starry providing the senior leadership the team made marked improvement by the year's end. Despite this improvement the district title was lost.

During the year, an event occurred which, although good for Bedford and Euless populous as a whole, created mild havac for the linksters. Ex-Dallas mayor Robert Folsom made the Sotogrande Country Club complex, including the nine-hole golf course, available to the city of Bedford. The city was unable to decline the excellent offer and made the purchase. The problem arose when the city decided to close the golf course portion of the complex rather than make it a municipal course. Thus the Trojans lost their most accessible course.

Golfers Look Ahead

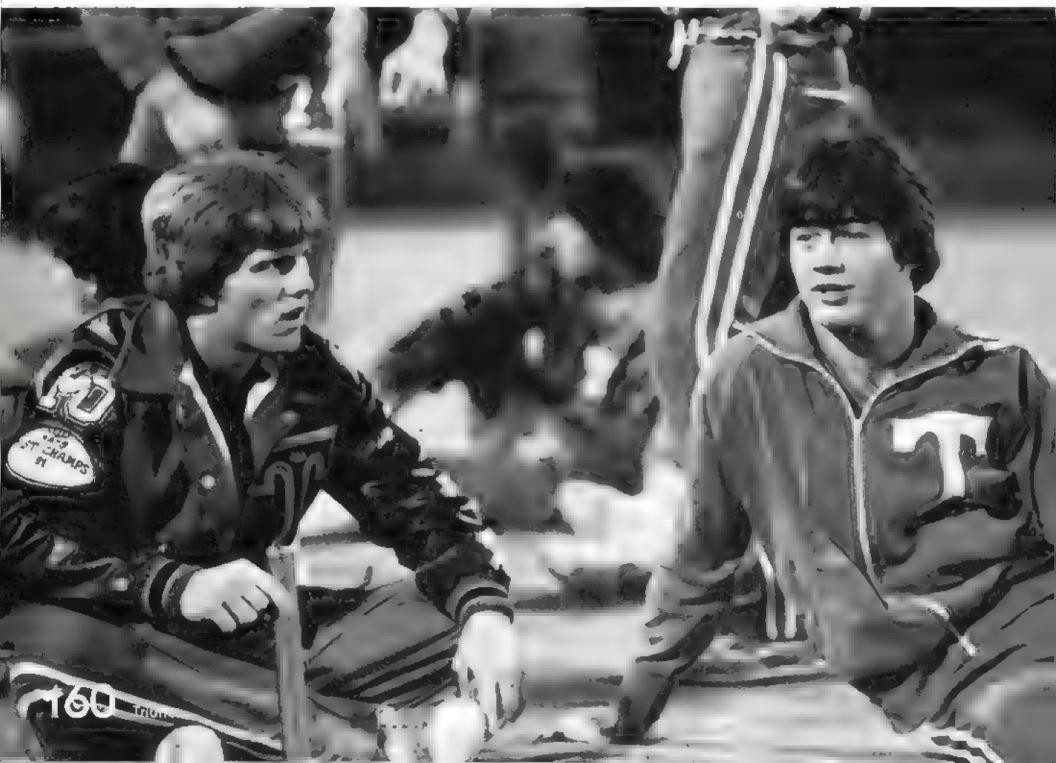

Although the golf team clearly went through a rebuilding year this past season, there was reason to look ahead. Coach Doyle Reynolds found a number of juniors and sophomores who seemed to be anxious to return Trinity to her former status as district champion. Among those were sophomore Heidi Eberhardt, the team's only female participant and an excellent prospect; junior Mike Lyon, and sophomore Tommy Howard.

Track Dominates 5A-9

Threatening storms and inclement weather prevailed before and during many of the track meets. The athletes could feel the tense pressure of the black clouds accumulate with the pressure to win. With an eye to the sky, the team patiently completed their warm-ups and stretches, not knowing whether the weather would permit them to compete.

But, Just as the weather always cleared, the Trojan track team railied to defeat many strong opponents such as MacArthur, Bell, and Lamar, whom they defeated every time they competed. Because of these victories, and many others, Trinity brought home the cherished district title for the fourth consecutive year.

Behind the encouragement, leadership, and persistance of seniors Scott Adams, John Alcedo, Kelly Askew, Bill Bateman, Ray Haltzclaw, Ernie Kesco, Bruce Keffer, Brian Michelsen, and Rod Parker, the team combined to continue the tradition of excellence started in track and field. Having successfully maintained their portion of the winning traditions, the seniors left a legacy rich in pride and accomplishment in the care of future generations of Trojans.

Track - Second to None

The Trojans did it again! The Trinity track team was a strong team that placed in every event in the district meet except two: this led to their fourth 5A-9 track title.

In addition to winning many relays, outstanding performances were seen in all areas of the district meet. These included Rod Parker and Bruce Keffer, pale vault; Kelly Askew, shotput; Victor Shelton, long jump and high jump; Steve Palmore, high jump and 400 meter run; and Jay Fltch, 110 meter hurdles.

Breaking school records twice, Lorenzo Berenguer placed 2nd in district and 6th in regionals in the 3200 meter run. Trinity's only first place was gained by Scott Adams in the discus throw. Another excellent performance was seen in Brian Michelsen's race in the 300 meter hurdles. Michelsen placed 2nd in district and 7th In the regional meet

The relay teams, who were the first team ever in Trinity's history to qualify for regionals, were especially impressive. These teams, consisting of Tony Dunn, Ray Holtzclaw, Mike Lovejoy, Brian Michelsen, Steve Polmore, and Rod Parker, both placed 2nd in district.

Thanks to dedicated team members and Coaches Bill Shatford and Pat Honeycutt, the Trinity track team produced another exceptional season.

Trackers View Success

The Trinity Girls track team has had an excellent year. The performance by the athletes was a tremendous improvement over last year. The girls team won four meets, placed second in two meets, and placed third at District Also, ten new school records were set.

The girls worked extremely hard and dedicated themselves to winning. They were rewarded at every track meet with good performances and high places. The effort put forth by each individual allowed the team to place higher in the district meet than ever before. Personal best times and performances were numerous.

The outstanding team members and their events were: Ann Neal in the shot-put; Desty Hall, shot-put and discus: Rachel Brown, high jump, long jump, and triple jump; and Susan Carter, hurdles and triple jump. The two members who made it to Regionals were Ann Neal and Rachel Brown.

The overall performance of the athletes was excellent. Each girl put forth her best effort and strove to be winners.

Girls Give Their Best

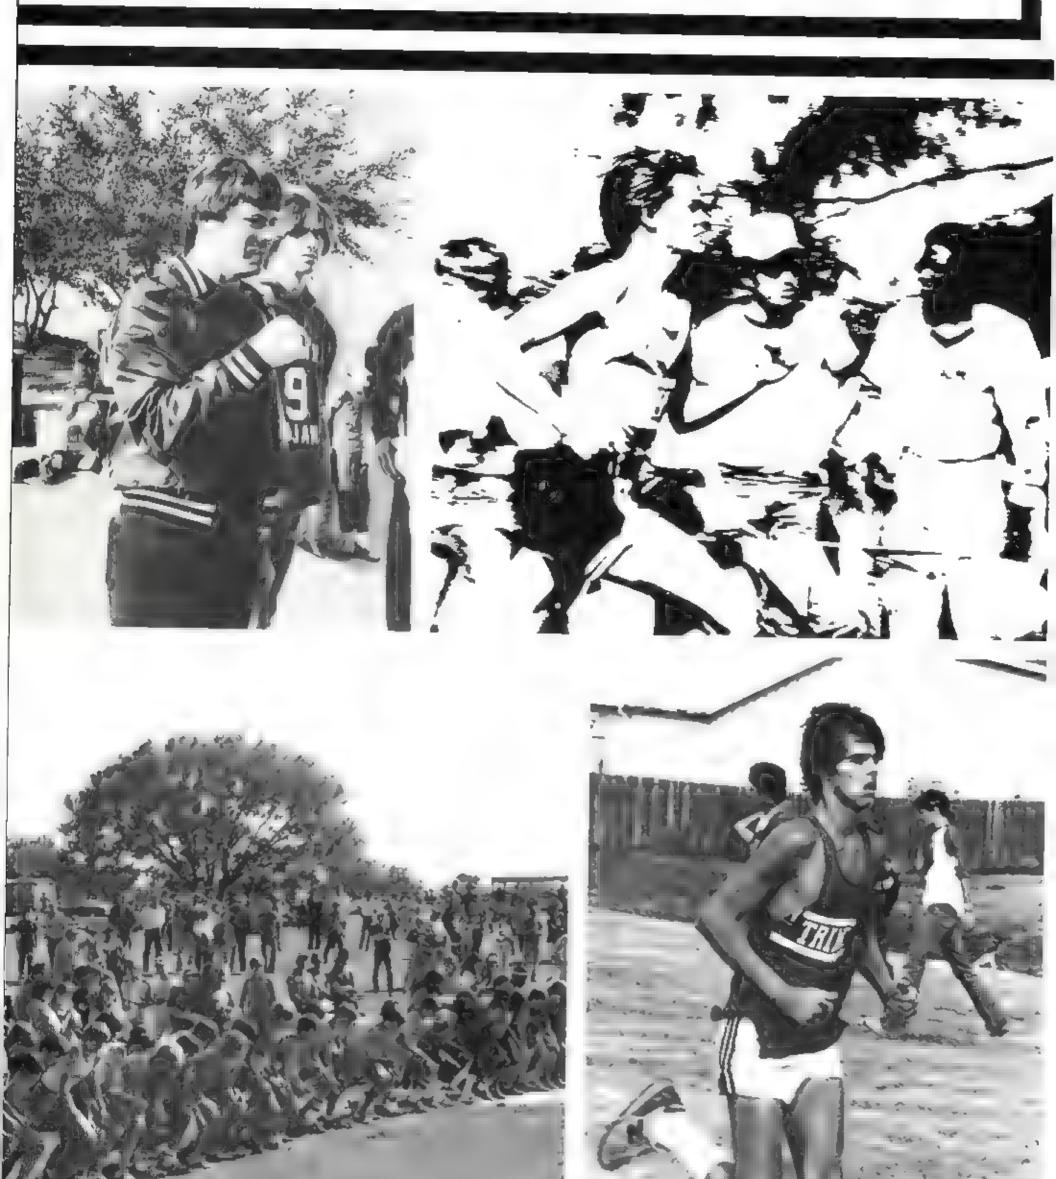

The girl's track and field team continued their climb toward the top. Two contributing factors were the talented girls and the new, enthusiastic coach, Susan Lumley. She helped push and encourage the girls to their highest potential.

Many girls contributed greatly to the Trinity Track Team. Outstanding performers were: Ann Neal, Desty Hall, Rachel Brown, and Susan Carter. Other high scoring performers were: Angela McGilvray, Delares Palmore, Lisa Warbritton. Mary Hayes, Renee Weaver, Charlotte Sebastian, Stephanie Walter, and Christy West. Still, other athletes were: Angela Jeans, Gwen Bell, Shawna Marcum, Gina Cucci, Tonya Terrill, Bonnie McRight, Lisa Dunham, Janie Perez, Mary Hart, Doris Reed, and Mary Kruzel

With the combined efforts of Coach Lumley and the athletes, the track team completed a successful year. The hours of training and dedication were important ingredients which assisted in creating a winning season. The returning girls will provide next year's team with a strong foundation to build another winning team.

Cross country running is a much overlooked sport. It is also one which requires a great amount of stamina and mental preparation because of the long distances that must be covered. This year, the boy's team, coached by Bill Shatford, was one which had several superb members, noticeably Willie Henderson, who qualified for regionals. Lorenzo Berenguer, Steve Palmore, Jeff Hileman, and sophomore Russell Stedman, who placed 22nd in the district meet.

During the off-season, the team lifted weights. Also, they ran every day of the season, which consisted of September and October, to keep in shape.

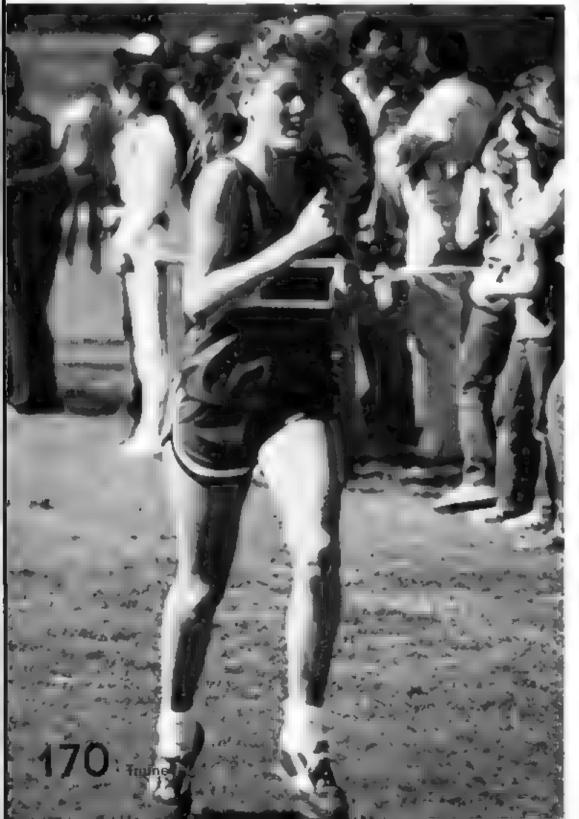

This year, both the Junior Varsity and the Varsity cross country teams had outstanding performances in several meets. Their efforts were visible in the district meet, with both teams placing second, and in the Ft. Worth Country Day Invitational Meet in which the Varsity were runners-up. All in all, Coach Shatford and the rest of the students looked toward the '82 season with much optimism because of the considerable number of superior runners who are returning to make next year's squad repeat and even excel last year's quality season.

Girls go to State

Just one more mile. That was a common thought at the mile marker for Trinity's girls cross country team. The girls worked hard every day, running mile after mile to prepare themselves for the meets. There was only one run per meet, unlike track. It was a two mile run which needed endurance and staming to endure the hills, bumps, holes, trees, and overall two mile course.

The THS girls did an autstanding jab this year. For the first time in the history of Girls Athletics, the cross country team won District and advanced on to Regionals, then State Under the coaching of Susan Lumley, new to the staff at Trinity, and Coach Wells, the girls developed into a State bound team very rapidly. The team's first goal was to place first or second at District. This in turn would advance them to Regionals. After winning District, the team realized there was a possibility to go to the State meet in Austin. At Regionals the girls performed exceptionally well. They placed in the top three which pushed them to State. With tough competition at State, THS girls placed tenth. After completing a successful season, the cross country team prepared for track

Sports

Practice Earns Rewards

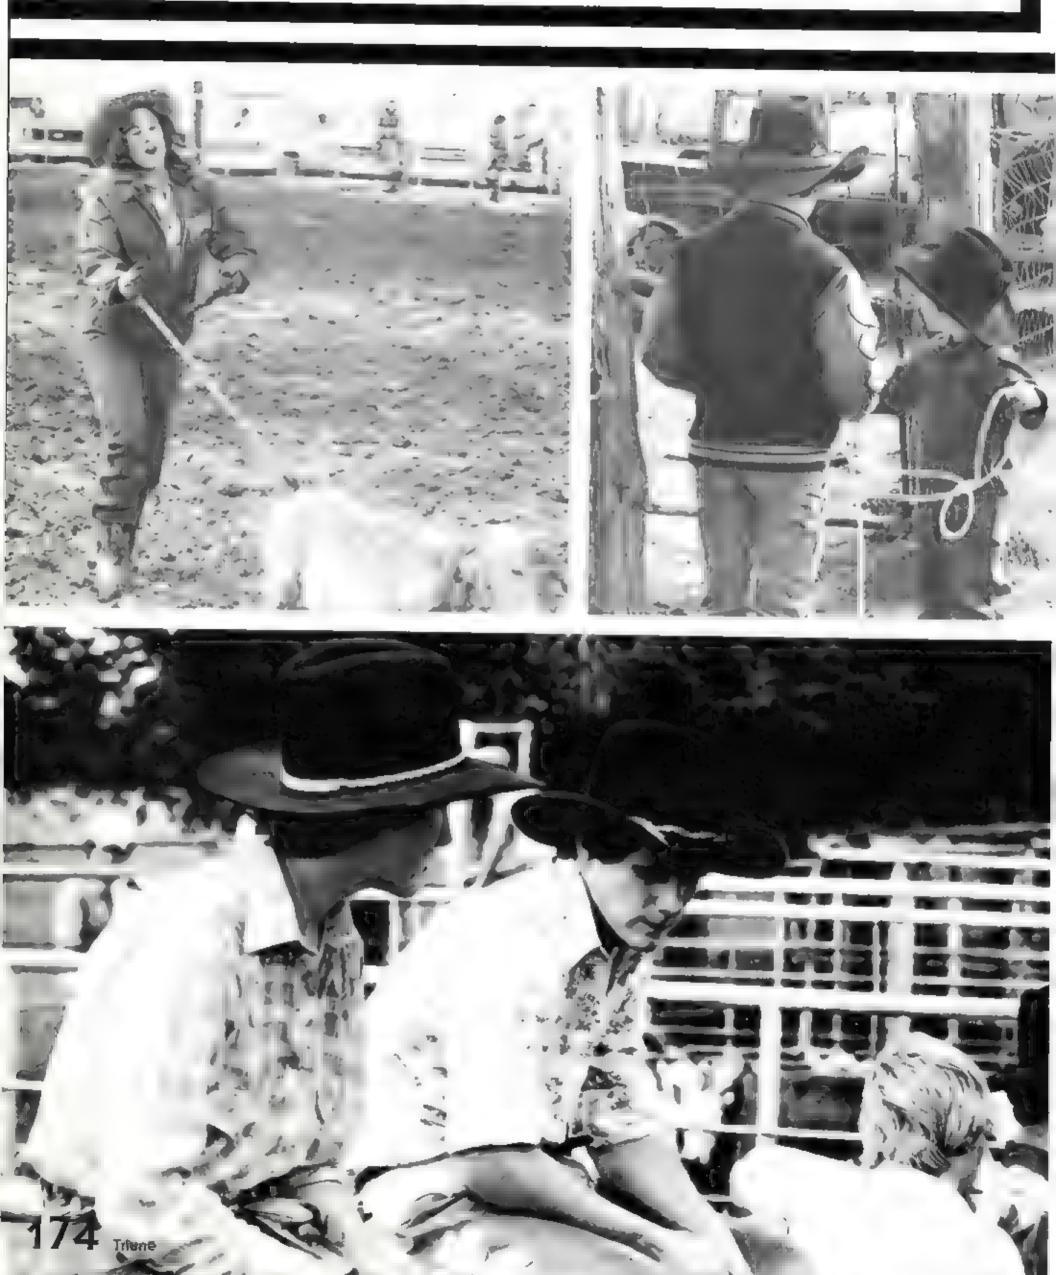

Rodeo was one sport that took a strong body, a great deal of skill, coordination, and a knowledge of animals in which to compete. Thirteen students at Trinlty possessed all of these elements. They were the members of the school rodeo team.

The members competed in rodeos throughout the year. At each rodeo there were twelve events, each requiring a $12.50 entry fee. This was the reason area businesses sponsored the team in such events as bull and bare back riding, team roping and barrel racing, among others. Team members practiced regularly in hopes of qualifying for the state championships. Two people from Trinity accomplished this goal. Doreen Zaremba and Gerald Maynard competed in the state meet, held at Bowie, on June 1st. Gerald did especially well in the chute dogging competition, an event that usually takes about five seconds to complete.

Playing a part in the team's success were the spansors Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gasch and Mr. and Mrs. Don Bynum. It was their responsibility to see that meetings were attended, members learned of the upcoming rodeos, entry fees were paid and the other duties were completed. They also devoted many long hours to organize the Trinity High Rodeo. The team members and spansors, through hard work and devotion managed to complete a spectacular rodeo season.

The Many Faces of Rodeo

Thirteen members and four sponsors made up the 1981-82 Rodeo Club. The club met every Tuesday night to discuss plans for upcoming rodeos, to come up with fund talsing ideas, and to talk about their club picnic. Members kept busy by asking area businesses to sponsor local rodeo events. They also sold lattery tickets to HEB residents for a free side of beef. To make sure projects ran smoothly officets were chosen. They were: Pres; Jackie Bynum, V. Pres; Doreen Zaremba, Sec; Elaine Thomes, and Serg. at Arms; Gerald Maynard.

The most active time of the year came during the fourth weekend in February. That was when the club sponsored the Trinity High School Rodeo at Alta Vista Arena. The three day event had to be organized with precise skill. This skill was displayed as programs were printed, livestock was ordered and spansors were found. The Rodeo Club successfully come through as the rodeo proved to be a tremendous accomplishment.

The Trinity High School Rodeo was a perfect example of how a group of people could get together and accomplish their goals through hard work. It was symbolic of the club's determination that it represented Trinity in its usual superbmanner.

Mr. and Miss

THS Nominees

This year, as in the past, the Trinity teaching staff chose four young men and women for Mr. and Miss THS nominees. These students were chosen for their outstanding accomplishments, attitudes and contributions to Trinity in their three years. After these eight had been selected, one young man and woman were chosen for the distinguished positions of Mr. and Miss THS.

Mr. THS

Kevin Kyrish

Kevin Kyrish was given the distinguished honor of being chosen Mr. THS. Kevin has been a member of the A Cappella choir for three years at THS. In his sophomore year he was in A Cappella II and in his junior and senior year in A Cappella I. Kevin acted as student director for A Cappella I in his final year. He was also a three-year member of the vocal ensemble "Harmony." His extreme dedication to the chair led to his receiving the HEB Fine Arts Scholarship. He will attend North Texas State University working for a double mojor in piano and voice. In Kevin's sophomore and senior year he made the All-State chair which led to yet another scholarship, the Trinity High School Chair Scholarship, Kevin has also been in the Spanish Club for his three years and in his senior year was elected historian for the club.

Miss THS

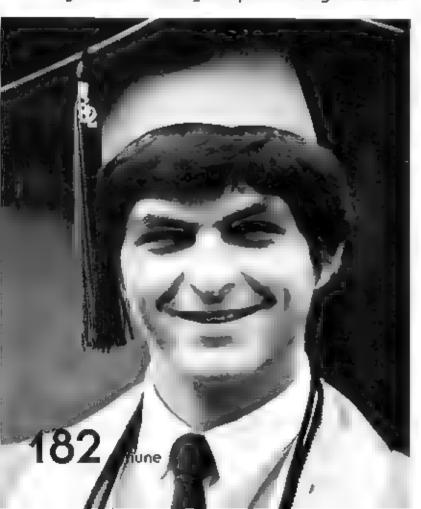

The THS faculty chose Melissa McCoy as Miss THS for the '81-'82 school year. Melissa was an active member of the gymnastics team and qualified for state. She showed her gymnastic talents by being a cheerleader for three years. At cheerleader camp she was chosen for All-American cheerleader and, in doing so, earned a position on the National Cheerleader Association staff. Melissa's pleasing personality gave way to yet another honor, being chosen for the '81-'82 Homecoming Court. Another citation given to Melissa was the Euless City Council Award. Melissa was 40th in class ranking and has been on the National Honor Society both her junior and senior years. Her grades and talent enabled her to attend Texas A&M where she will major in computer science and after graduating will work with computers.

Rebecca Ann Eden was chosen to be Trinity's Homecoming Queen for the 1981-82 school year. She participated in many organizations and activities as a Trojan. Rebecca was a member of the drill team, a student council representative, a member of the executive council, in FHA, and on the gymnastics team. She participated in numerous outside activities also. She taught gymnastics, participated in the church chair, played the piano, and was an active member of the church softball team. Rebecca also enjoyed swimming as a habby. Her plans after graduating from Trinity included attending Baylor University and majoring in Education.

The 1982 Homecoming Court consisted of these members: Sophomores — Diane Darrow and Deelyn Donnelly, Juniors Cherie Barton and Sandy Lauridsen. Seniots — Rebecca Eden, Melissa McCoy, and Vicki Stewart.

Scholars Display Honor

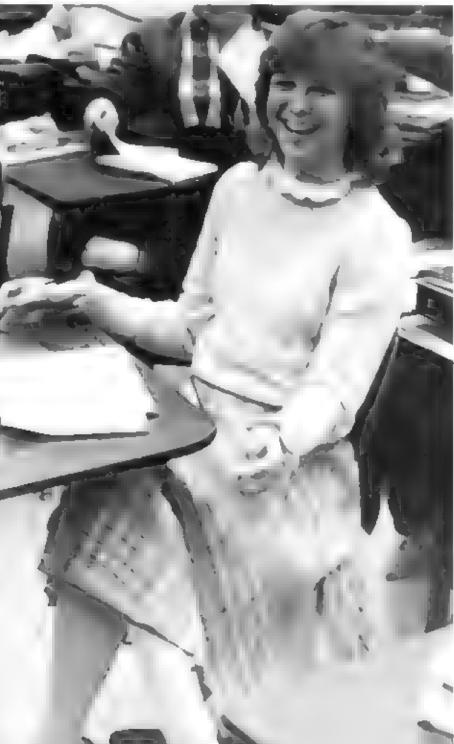

In recognition of leadership, scholarship, and involvement two very special honors, the DAR Scholastic Award and the Mid-Cities Optimist Award, are bestowed upon two deserving seniors each year. The local DAR Chapter selected Margaret Lucas as the recipient for 1981-82. Margaret, a very dedicated student, expressed her involvement through the French Club, of which she had been a three year member. She also was a member of the National Honor Society and held the office of service chairman. Margaret's studious character and established devotion prompted the DAR Chapter to present her with this honor.

The Mid-Cities Optimist Club focused on Shannon Henson as Trinity's Outstanding Senior for this year. Shannon, a very Involved student, was a member of the Triune Staff and had served on the Executive Council for two years, She exhibited outstanding leadership qualities as she took on the position of head twirler for Trinity's Marching Band. As an active National Honor Society member she also served as

Both of these fine young ladies were chosen as a result of their abilities to excel academically, and equally importantly, for their strong dedication and hard work which has earned them the respect of many.

Teacher of the Year

Each year the faculty of Trinity High School selects a unique teacher to be honored as Teacher of the Year. Mrs. Dee Years was appropriately awarded with this title for the 1981-82 year. Throughout her nine years at Trinity. Mrs. Years has been extremely dedicated to the Speech and Drama departments. Although she no longer teaches these classes, she participated as contest director for UIL competition for her third year. Mrs. Years is now teaching English and Spanish. Besides being notably gifted in these areas. Mrs. Years gives much of her time and talent to enjoy singing in Community Choirs and in the designing and sewing fields.

Mrs. Yeats is remarkably devoted to her work and gives her entire being to make her teaching creatively interesting for her students. Her in-depth concern for each student's individual character allows for a special student-teacher relationship that students can confide in. She is continuously teaching on and off campus. Mrs. Dee Yeats' incredible knowledge is unlimited, making her a very respected teacher deserving of the title of Teacher of the Year.

Clubs Pick Sweethearts

It has become a Trinity tradition that certain organizations on the compus annually select their sweethearts and beaus. This year the clubs participating in the selection of one male and one female favorite to represent their organization were FBLA, DECA, FHA, and Drill Team. Due to their hours of time and effort contributed to FBLA, the recipients of the title of Mr. and Miss FBLA were junior Teresa Calhoun and junior Mark Mowery. In addition to FBLA. DECA also voted on a sweetheart and beau. As a result of their outstanding achievements in DECA, senior Julie Bearrow was chosen as DECA Sweetheart and senior Russel Daniels as DECA Beau. Also, this year FHA voted on their choice for sweetheart and beau. The result of that election named senior Kim Knott FHA sweetheart, while senior Scott Bowen received the title of FHA beau. The final organization to choose a sweetheart and beau was Drill Team. This years Troy-Ann election named senior Ricky Moon as their Drill Team Beau. Yet, the person receiving the title of Outstanding Troy-Ann was selected solely by Mrs. Beverly Skipper. The 1981-82 Outstanding Troy-Ann was senior Amy White, who served this year as Drill Team captain.

Palantir Sees All

Palantirl The Trojans' way of saying "Welcome to Trinity's campus."

Each Issue of the Palantit was filled with news media of current issues and numerous advertising features. The advertisement used in the Palantit increased the production of sales and helped to pay for the paper.

This year's editor was Becky Held, a second year member. Her dedication and outside work aided in the production of the Palantir. The co-editor was Jim Stubblefield; who was also responsible for the sports section of the paper. All of the photography was done by sophomore Tracy Hunt and Sean Seibert.

The Palantir was published every three weeks and, unlike the years past, this year's edition of the Palantir was printed in twelve page issues instead of only eight pages on issue.

The 81-82 Palantir was sponsored by Mr. Monte Miller. He made it possible for Trinity to produce a terrific school newspaper.

The Vision Makers

Seeing is believing! This year's Triune Staff was the biggest in Trinity's history. The staff consisted of ninteen members and four photographers. Being a large staff, there were many responsibilities to cope with. Each member was required to complete their given number of pages and make up any work missed due to yearbook purposes.

Yes, the controversy hit again this year. Will there be a summer yearbook? The answer, of course, was "yes." Having a summer yearbook proved to be a good idea in may ways. The quality of the book was improved because of additional time to complete the pages. Also, the spring activities and sports were recorded as they happened rather than simply being photographed in practice and having schedules printed. Not only were the sports represented thoroughly, but also the departing seniors had an on-the-spot recording of their prom and graduation.

Due to a job promotion, Mr. Ben Wilhite, who was the Triune sponsor for the past few years, is no longer teaching at Trinity. Hired in his place was Mr. Jeff Grimm, a former junior high teacher at Euless. Along with school activities Mr. Grimm also took his tasks home and worked eagerly to help produce another new and different Triune yearbook.

Spirit in Black & White

The Student Council is an organization that was designed specifically to benefit Trinity High School and its student body. However, the Student Council is also an outstanding service organization for the teachers and the community. This year the Council officers and their sponsor Gerry Woods joined together to devise numerous projects to be done throughout the year. Realizing that the teachers are a vital part of Trinity, the Student Council formed a Teacher Appreciation Committee to honor the teachers each month. The council provided brunches, ice cream socials, coupons for student service, spirit buttons, and season get-togethers to express their feelings of gratitude for the teachers' dedication. The Council also aided the teachers during registration, mack schedules, and in any other way that they could be of assistance. Along with their willingness to serve Trinity, the Student Council felt it was necessary to aid their surrounding community. This was evident through safety programs, visiting Senior Citizens, and by the organization of a Christmas party for needy children. Student Council is indeed an organization that cares deeply for their school while also being extremely concerned about their community.

Council Serves School

Dedicating themselves to a united purpose, the Trinity High School Student Council this year provided numerous opportunities for student participation. During the excitement of football season in the fall, the Student Council diligently worked, combining their efforts, to produce a tremendous homecoming week. Starting weeks ahead of time, they organized committees to plan for the homecoming activities, which included planning the homecoming dance. devising the Floming T, and the organization of the homecoming parade. Unfortunately for the students, rainy weather caused the cancellation of the parade and the postponement of the Floming T until Bell week.

The Student Council also provided Trinity students with holiday activities during Christmas and Valentine's Day. Student Council members were often seen in the cafeteria selling Christmas cards and Christmas carols, Valentine's Day kiss-o-grams and sing-o-grams, but the excitement came during the day of delivery with a surprise kiss during second period. Within the halls the holiday spirit that the Student Council contributions made were seen in the excitement of the student body and the cooperation and participation of the teachers.

Seniors Seek Success

224 Triune

As the senior year approached, the members of the class began to build up their treasury. They began the moneymaking year by sponsoring the first dance of the football season. The seniors tried something new this year. For a money-making project, they sponsored a skateathon. Although it was cancelled several times due to severe weather, when the function finally went through, it was a great success. Many seniors were "rolling around the rink" to collect money for their class.

The valentine season was also a money-making season for the senior class. The class sold carnations for everyone's sweethearts on Friday. February 12. This was also a great success financially. The upper-classmen also sponsored a candy sale in March to bring some extra money to the treasury. Perhaps the most successful sale for the seniors was the sale of prom tickets. This money took care of the expenses of Las Colinas where the prom was held.

All in all the senior class had a successful year with its sales and campaigns. They acquired enough money over the months to enjoy their long awaited prom.

Juniors Seeking Prom Site

The Junior Executive Council had a very successful year actively and financially. Part of this was due to the dedicated sponsors Mrs. Diana Keown, Mrs. Barbara Ratts, and the new sponsor, Miss Nancy Richardson. Credit should also be given to officers Paul Waschka, Ricky Morgan, Laura Battle, and Jan Offield. And, of course, to the active participation of council members, which consisted of forty-five juniors. All of these devoted people assembled at meetings before school in Mrs. Ratts' room. They had the important task of deciding upon a location for a prom. Among those nominated were the Anatole, the Americana and the Adolphus, Items taken into consideration were: the willingness of a place to hold a prom, the accommodations, and the cost. To help cushion the cost of a prom, the junior executive council held some fund raisers. First, they sponsored a dance. Second, they had M&M sales in November and February. Another profitable project was their working at Texas Stadium at the beginning of the football season. With all of these activities, the junior executive council still had time to construct the winning homecoming float. All in all, the junior executive council had an exciting and prosperous

Sophs Execute Great Year

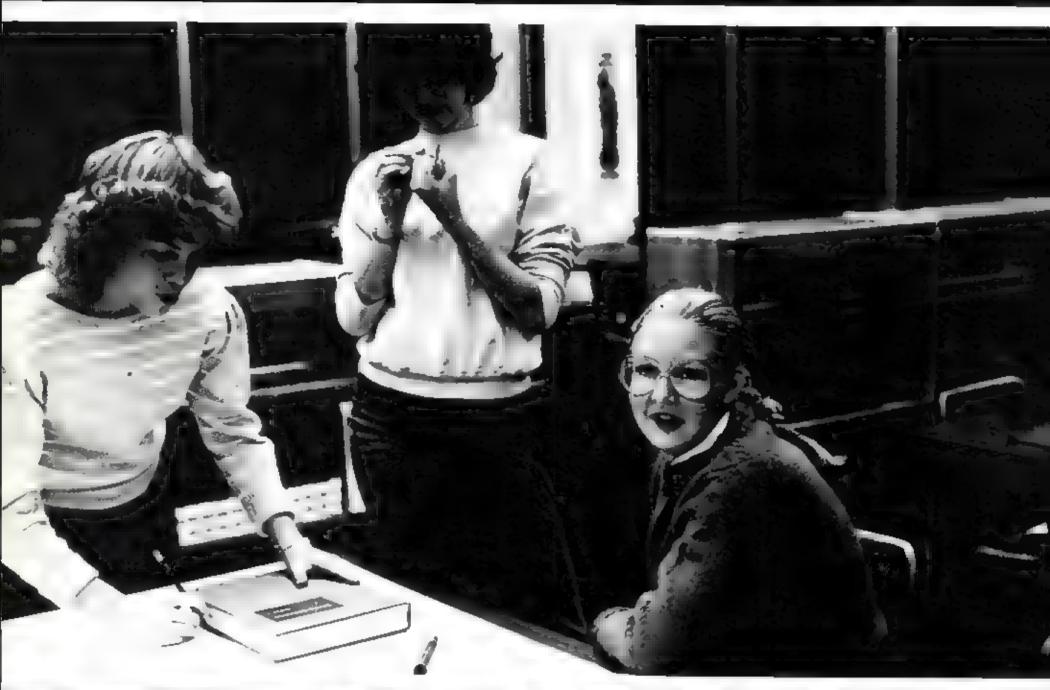

Take three dedicated teachers, many eager sophomores, plus a great deal of determination and hard work and what do you get? The Sophomore Executive Council. The main objective of the Council was to begin planning their senior prom and to start raising the money to fund it. Under the leadership of sponsors Nelson Moore, Betty Riley, and Beverly Moore, the Sophs began fundraising projects and ideas for the upcoming years. The Sophomores pulled together at the beginning of the year and created a fantastic float for the Homecoming parade and game. From that, they set out selling t-shirts with their class yell printed on it, followed by "T" plaques, M&M's, and their big project of the year, the litterbasket sales. The Council also sponsored dances, a day at the waterslide, and the "Battle of the Bands."

With class officers David O'Brien, Mike Humphrey, Darla Dowell, and Deelyn Donnelly, the class was led to an overall successful year. Many hours of long and hard work were involved in seeking to keep the class united and in raising money. However, in May of 1984, all of the time and effort will be rewarded.

The Fourth Dimension

There were qualities seen in some special students this year that went beyond the characteristics visible in the average student. These "fourth dimension" attributes of scholarship, leadership, character, and service all characterized the National Honor Society members.

The National Honor Society was involved in several projects this year. In the fall, NHS sponsored a Homecoming Tea for all Trinity ex-students. Thanks to all the hard work and support of the members, this tea was a huge success and enjoyed by many.

In January, the NHS had a directory sale. This sale was unique in two ways. First, the book was totally different than any other previously distributed. Instead of the annual "Student Directory" cover. Gina Benoit designed "Trinity's Little Black Book's" eye-catching design. Because of this and the hardworking members, the order set a new record of 500 directories sold in one day.

These "fourth dimension" students concluded the year of fun and beneficial projects as one of the most successful chapters in Trinity's history.

Gaze Into Perfection

Tension and freedom. What does Band have to offer? If you enjoy the tension involved in competition, Band is for you. Competition trains sophomores for the years to come. It begins when they try out for the Band on a prepared piece of music and scales to the directors' backs. The first game is tense for everyone. Members can visualize boos or standing avarions: it depends on how prepared they really are. If competition scares you and you like to idea of freedom better. Band is still for you. "After Silence, That Which Comes Nearest To Expressing The inexpressable is MUSIC." No matter what instrument you play or what mood you are in, the freedom of expression comes easy.

However, the students in the THS Band are in this program because they like both the competitive tension and the freedom of expression. This is what makes the THS Band serious, but enjoyable.

Behold a Classical Band

The Symphonic Band, which was directed by Mr. Neugent, performed, "Gallante Dances," "Enigma Variations," and "Storm and Sunshine" for their U.I.L. program and earned a Sweepstakes Trophy. In an earlier performance in Galveston at the Southwest Band Festival, they also received ones and got Outstanding Band, which was chosen from over sixty bands.

The Concert Band, which was conducted by Mr. Harville, performed "First Sulte for Band." "Court Festival," and "Wycliff Variations" they did on outstanding job being the only second band there receiving straight ones and a Sweepstakes Trophy.

The Jazz Band performed at various junior highs and in the Lunch Bunch Series. Under the fine direction of Mr. Park the '81-'82 Jazz Band was one of the best Trinity has ever seen.

"It's over," sighed band students. It had been a year of long blistering rehearsals during marching season and tedious rehearsals during concert season. Symphonic band member, Bart Stark, pointed out, "It gives me a sense of pride and accomplishment when I look back at the year. It also gives me the will and discipline to work harder and look forward to next year even more."

Under the meticulous direction of Mr. Tom Neugent. Mr. Lawrence Harville, and Mr. Rick Park, the marching band superbly executed their U.I.L. marching show, which was held at U.T. Arlington, and received a 1, the highest honor given. In addition to the first division rating, the THS Marching Band also received a standing ovation. During marching season, all three bands are combined, but in concert, they were divided into three separate bands.

in order to be in the THS band, an Individual must have patience, a sense of responsibility, and an enormous amount of discipline. Trojan Band members displayed these qualities throughout the year

Trinity was filled with the sound of music due to the many talented voices of the Trojan chair students. Under the direction of the devoted Cherrie Townsend, all three choirs had a very industrious year. On March 3 and 4, the choirs participated in the national UIL competition and were one of two schools in the entite region to win sweepstakes honors. In addition to this competition, chair students had the appartunity for individual achievement through participation in a solo-ensemble contest, as well as competing for All-Region, All-District, All-Area, and All-State. With these, and their three formal performances during the year, the Fall concert, the Christmas concert, and the Spring show, the chairs were kept busy. During March, A Cappella I and the Harmony group went to Orlando, Florida, and competed in the "Great Southern Choral Classic" with Harmony winning first place in the show division, and A Cappella I taking the grand champion trophy and being the overall winner.

Harmony gave a very special "Encore" performance April 16-17. The show proved to be a great success, playing to an SRO audience during Saturday's performance, with the choir singing and dancing to thirty-three different songs.

The choirs strove to achieve the high standards of previous Trinity choirs and surpassed their goal through dedication, determination, and constant hard work

The Trinity High School Choral department was composed of three separate choirs: A Cappella I, A Cappella II, and Harmony. These choirs together produced a fantastic choral year. A Cappella I consisted of a select group of auditioned singers who have had previous experience with Trinity's choral program. Another choir, A Cappella II, was a group of students who had never been in a Trinity choir. These students had an opportunity to learn the basic fundamentals of music theory, vocal production, and choral performance. Trinity's "show" choir, Harmony, was composed of sixteen of the school's finest singers who song and danced at various community activities and at concerts of their own.

Cheerleaders Add Pizzaz

"Big G. Little o Go, Go . . .!" was one of many cheers that the cheerleaders performed at pep rollies, football games, basketball games, and numerous other occasions. In order to achieve excellence the cheerleaders, Pam Chesbro, Sheryl Kuhn, Mellssa McCoy, Landa Maufdin, Jackie Svochak, Debble Haass, Sandy Lauridsen, and Lynette Mercer attended Stephen F. Austin State University with forty-five other squads from all parts of Texas. From 360 girls at camp, Melissa McCoy was chosen All-American cheerleader based on her spirit, sharpness, and tumbling. Pat Culbert, Mike Kruzel, and Mike Whittaker were the outstanding yellmen that assisted the cheerleaders in their agile feats.

In addition to the varsity cheerleaders, the junior varsity cheerleaders, which included Diane Darrow, Suzy Dyer, Shawn Gray, Angle Howse, and Michelle Schaeffer, cheered the junior varsity football team on to an Undefeated season.

Mrs. Barbara Ross deserved special credit for her choreography, the skills of the cheerleaders, and the coordination of the pep rallies.

No school would be complete without a mascot to boost spirit and represent the vitality of our school. Kim Standridge did an excellent job of representing Trinity's tremendous school spirit.

Visible Spirit on Campus

Discipline, timing, smiling, punctuality; what do these words have in common? They are a description of any one of the ninety Spirit Club members. This year's Spirit Club was clearly visible in the stands at home football and basketball games. They helped to cheer our Trojans on to accustomed victories. In addition to performing hand routines at games and pep rallies. Spirit Club ald a dance toutine during the football season, which was impressive as well as entertaining.

Spirit Club was also a prerequisite to becoming a Junior Vorsity Cheerleader or a member of the Drill Team. Naturally, the main objective of Spirit Club was to train its members. to meet the requirements set by these groups. To obtain the quality needed to be a Troy-Ann, Mrs. Beverly Skipper, the Spirit Club director, devoted her second period class for training these girls to perfection. After much hard work and many tiring hours of stretching and exercising, only a select group was chosen from Spirit Club. To these girls the long hours have paid off, for they become next year's Drill Team.

Moct: Loud and Clear

What is MOCT? MOCT stands for the Men of Company "T". They provided the student body of Trinity with their own special kind of entertainment. They were present at every pep rally and most football games whether at home or away.

During pep tallies the MOCT acted out skits for the students as well as leading the Senior class with yells and chants. Also, constructing run-through signs and posters to hang on the fences of Pennington field were among the many projects that MOCT did to keep the football games amusing.

MOCT was just as supportive of the basketball team. They were "loudly and clearly" present at most of the team's home games. The sponsor for the Men of Company "T" was Mr. Barney. He got this rowdy group of men together at the beginning of the year to establish memberships and rules. The officers for the 1982 Moct were: Todd Spradlin — President, John Alcedo — Vice President, Kevin Killingsworth — Secretary, Russell Daniels — Treasurer.

The MOCT was a great inspiration to the football players as well as other students by providing their lively spirit and enthusiasm at many Trinity functions.

Spotlighting Success

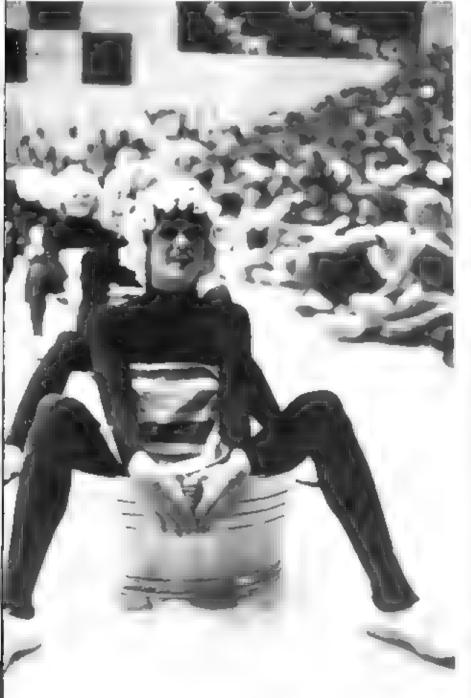

The Trinity TroyAnns. When you hear these words what comes to mind? Most people think of glamout and glory. Although this is characteristic of this group of young ladies, they could tell you that behind the smiles and spotlights an extreme amount of time, effort and dedication are placed into the making of a successful team. The girls began their successs as they kicked the year off at Thunderhawk Camp in Oklahoma. Here they rated two superior ribbons and were chosen as the outstanding team. The officers also attended camp to further their talents and abilities as leaders. They received numerous ribbons including those for out standing achievements, most superior squad, and most creative routine. Following their strenuous efforts and accomplishments at camp the TroyAnns returned to Trinity to prove their worthiness of these awards. This action was achieved to the utmost extent as the TroyAnns performed at over thirty school activities and a final superior performance at the UIL Drill Team Competition in March. The TroyAnns attained these accomplishments through endless hours of rehearsing and polishing. Does it seem to be all smiles and spotlights? No, but ask any TroyAnn and she'll tell you "it's worth it!"

Trojans See New Spirit

This year the Trinity Trotters made their debut among Trinity's numerous other organizations. They were organized as a service club and rendered such goals as helping new students feel welcome and adopting grandparents. Membership was open to any girl who could maintain good grades and was concerned about the students of Trinity. Their first year commenced in the fall with a bake sale for the students. While working as a service group, they also performed routines at two pep railies. The Trotters began their history with a memorable year.

The Trinity Mat Mates were also a new organization. The Mat Mates were the cheerleading group for wrestling. Out of twenty girls who tried out, only five made the squad. They were: Susan Kell, Ranell Miller, Tracy Fletcher, Teresa King, and Kathy Sutton. The Mat Mates dedicated themselves to cheering for the wrestling team at every meet. They had a wide variety of cheers. They also had to provide their own transportation and uniforms. The group's sponsor was Mrs. Lynette Mull, an ex-wrestling cheerleader in high school. The girls had rough restrictions they had to go by and they were all good students. Even though it was the Mat Mates first year they did exceptionally well.

Fine Arts Are Looking Good

This past year the Trinity Fine Arts building, known for its exciting concerts and numerous productions, was host to four outstanding organizations: the Trinity Forensics League, the National Forensics League, Troubadors, and Thespians. The T.F.L. consisted of students who had competed in and earned points in two or more competitions representing Trinity. The N.F.L. consisted of students who had competed and earned points in competitions representing themselves. Under the superior Instruction of Miss Paulinda Krug, both organizations compiled an enviable record. Breaking all previous Speech competition records at Trinity, six people qualified for state; they were as follows: Pat Culbert, Sundy Muse. Dori Swyhart, David Wilson, Katle Racz. and Tom Wurst. Living up to such a high standards was truly a challenge to Speech's neighbor Drama. With great exuberance, both the Troubadors and the Thespians acted out an exciting year. Mrs. Jan Schronk, Drama Instructor, was the sponsor for both talented groups. Receiving points for participating in productions, students worked their way first into the Troubadors and then into the Thesplans. Among the performances done by the clubs were "Charlotte's Web" and "The Diary of Anne Frank." All in all, the Fine Arts building can be proud to be the location of these fine organizations.

Trojans Seek Culture

Trinity has three language dubs which capture the student's interest and focus on the culture, language, and people of the chosen country.

The French Club had an exciting and interesting year. In October, the group brought back the Travis Brothers' Band for an entertaining assembly and in March they sold M&M's.

The Spanish Club enjoyed the year by visiting many Spanish historical sites. They traveled to Dallas to study the Mexican culture in different parts of the city. The cathedrals they visited were beautiful sights taken in by all members.

The German Club began the year by selling M&Ms to help pay for the club T-shirts. They also attended Novemberfest at Paschal High School. It was an exciting event enjoyed by all. In December the club learned Christmas carols and had a party.

To sum up the year's events the three clubs held a Tri-Language Dinner. This feast included dishes of the different lands. They were all prepared by the students and brought together in a smorgasbord-type meal. With this fun-filled dinner the year came to a close.

Pupils Demonstrate Life

Who are these people? They are the vivacious, exuberant and absolutely crazy individuals who came together and called themselves Young Life. They were people who knew their responsibilities as a Christian and how they should live their lives. Young Life provided many students with the warm Christian atmosphere that every heart desired. It encouraged young people to live an overcoming and victorious life through the power of Jesus Christ. The main goal and purpose of Young Life was to challenge students to fellowship with one another and to promote a closer walk with God. It also prepared them for life outside of school as well as during their high school years. Young Life met each Monday of the week for a time of singing. practical jokes, hilatious skits and an edifying lesson given by Joe Morgan, the Young Life sponsor. During this time, some of the members often had their spirits lifted after a hard day at school: others found their problems taken away. and their worries dissolved. Young Life highlighted the year with many fun activities and events. Among them were: a barbecue picnic, a skilng trip to Colorado, and a scavenger hunt.

YCW Is Looking Up

The Young Christian Women proved to be most active in many ways. With the help of spansors Janet Williamson, Becky Stepp, and Carolyn McKnight Y.C.W. planned many activities for the entire year. Some of their activities were: A secret pal program for the administrators, a Thanksgiving dinner for elderly people in a nursing home, a food drive that provided a Christmas dinner for many people that could not have had such a wonderful Christmas Day, and a Halloween party for the children of the Stonegate Elementary School. This year's group of officers were: President, Becky Heid: Vice President, Susan Cleveland; Secretary, Renee Jones; Treasurer, Trina Stefanides; and Historian, Jackie Pelton.

In this organization young women were tought the value and the Importance of the Christian life. They learned that every individual heart, in the world, is very valuable to God. Through this fellowship the girls were brought closer to God and were encouraged to tell others of their experiences with the Lord. The main purpose of Y.C.W. was to spread the Word to others so that they could benefit from the blessings of God.

Clubs Aid With Careers

Checking the blood pressure of Senior Cirizens was only one of the many health related activities performed by the Health Occupation Students of America (HOSA). The twenty-six students had jobs that were in some way related to the field of health service. The instructor of the club was Mrs. Connie Smart. She taught the students the rules and procedures dealing with most health occupations. After third period, the students went to their respective jobs and gained an even greater understanding of their chosen field of study. The club did not participate in fund raising events, but they did serve their community in a number of ways.

Fund raising projects dominated the year for Home Economic Careers Education. The club, which consists of students in the class HERO, sold packet and poster calendars. They also kept up with the current craze by selling Rubik's Cube keychains. The club co-sponsored the Sammy Vaughn concert with the other vocational clubs.

HOSA and HECE were only two of the many vocational clubs at Trinity that were designed to give students educational and on the job training.

Clubs Sight a Career

Trinity was fortunate to have classes to help one's career get started. One such class was D.E.C.A., or Distributive Education Clubs of America. This class was geared toward marketing and distribution. In order to prepare students for the various competitions to be entered, they attended a leadership conference for youth in Glen Rose. To end the year, an Employer-Employee Banquet was held in honor of the Employers.

This year the Future Homemakers of America had such a large and active group they were forced to be separated into four sub-divisions, each division being headed by a Home-Economics reacher. Though each division held individual meetings, together they created many projects like visiting nursing homes and adopting Grandparents.

The Future Business Leaders of America are an organization that promotes office skills for students with clerical aspirations. The FBLA was involved in several activities in addition to the school store they sponsored in order to help students obtain school supplies in times of need. They helped handicapped children by co-sponsoring a Halloween party for them and they attended a special convention during March.

Vocational Pot Pourri

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America was under the skilled 'eadership of Mr. Bob Garner. VICA held several fund raisets this past year. They, in conjunction with the other vocational groups, sponsored the Sammy Vaughn concert. The club also had a beef jerky sale in October. VICA met once a month during a breakfast. They also had a Christmas party and an employer/employee banquet. The club's president James Butler received the honor of outstanding VICA student.

Another active group, Office Education Association, had a busy year with social projects and fund raisers. In February OEA entered an area office skills competition, OEA also typed the address label for companies such as Gordon's Jewelers and the Hilliard Chemical Company. OEA held their meetings once a month under the supervision of Mrs. Oleto Nash.

A third group. Vocational Opportunities Clubs of Texas, entered area competitions in March to be a member of VOCT, one had to be enrolled in CVAE CO-OP. The meetings were held bi-monthly during their CVAE CO-OP class. VOCT displayed their spirit by constructing a float for homecoming. The sponsors for this club were Mr. Nelson Moore and Mr. Lloyd Stone.

Looking Ahead

What do your plans for after high school include? To assist the students of Trinity High School with this question, a College and Career Day was held in October. Representatives from over 70 colleges, universities, and professions visited Trinity to present pamphlets, catalogs, and answers to questions students had about their collegiate or professional choice.

The time period was divided into three 15 minute sessions. Students selected which areas they preferred to attend from distributed schedules. A majority of the students chose to visit the library where over 40 calleges and universities had prepared displays to assist those interested. Major area and predominant colleges held their sessions in the A building thus allowing a greater number of students to attend. Those students interested in what the Armed Services had to offer were able to attend sessions especially directed towards the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines. The students with special areas of interest such as Engineering, Law, Computer Science, or Fine Arts, were eligible to visit with professionals of their particular future career. A great deal was gained from College and Coreer Day as students were compelled to look ahead into the future.

Sophs Make Their Debut

The Sophomores proved themselves worthy to be true Trojans at the Student Council sponsored orientation and mini-pep rally. The Sophomores, having eagerly anticipated the Joining of the mighty Trojans, were given their chance to exemplify genuine Trinity spirit at the mini-pep rally. Although they appeared as mere spectators in the beginning, they were persistently encouraged by the cheerleaders to participate in the cheers and their class yell. The Sophomores also joined in the singing of the Alma Mater and Fight Song led by Trinity's Harmony and Band. The mini-pep rally was a remarkable success as the Sophomores continued to support Trinity with utmost efforts.

At the orientation a warm welcome was bestowed upon the newcomers as various upperclassmen and faculty members acquainted them with the duties and responsibilities required of all Trojans. They were assured of the many privileges that Trinity had to offer. The following week a Parade of Organizations was held, its purpose was to demonstrate the numerous extra-curricular activities in which Trinity is involved.

Students View New Year

Registration. The medium between the end of summer and the beginning of school. Some students went in and got out quickly — lucky devils. Most students worked out one problem that started another. The whole day was full of frustration and satisfaction.

Once the better part of an hour was spent outside in line, the registration process began. This meant getting schedules worked out just to have it all messed up because classes were closed. After some complaints and suggestions, students formed lines for their desired classes and teachers.

Once you got all the problems froned out, your name on the enrollment sheet of the class of your choice, and the basic name, address, and phone number written down, the counselor checked your final schedule and you were off to a good start for another valuable year at high school.

A Show to See

The band's powerful rendition of "Scream" and the drill ream's breathtaking routine to "New York, New York" helped make halftime a show to see! These two groups entertained the enthusiastic fans while the football team took a well-deserved break.

From the moment the award-winning Troy-Anns took to the field, all eyes were upon their sparkling smiles and graceful moves. They performed to songs such as "Dallas" and "Love a Rainy Night".

Also adding to the splendor of the evening was the Trojan Band. Not only was the band made up of skillful musicians, It also contained a renowned flag corps, an eye-catching twirling line, and a tremendous drum corps.

"La Suerta" and "Pictures of an Exhibition" were two of the many songs performed by the band. "Flight of the Bumblebee" was played by the drum corps and towards the end of the halftime show the twirlers and the flag corps performed to "Marianne".

All of this proved to be the perfect climax to an evening of spectacular showmanshipl

Spirits Not Dampened

Wow! What a week of fun! When the Trojons have a homecoming they give it all they've got! It all started with the bizarre effects of Spirit Week. People were dressed pink, punk, prep, and everything else you could think of. This was a definite change from the usual everyday attire. Next on the list, and something new for this year, was door decorations. Along with the usual hall decor, teachers' second period classes decorated their door for a prize. Through all of this, of course, you could not forget those floats! Many long and hard hours were spent in preparation for the parade. As Wednesday drew near, gray skies grew and rain began to fall. Although the rain cancelled the parade, it did not dampen spirits at the homecoming dance on Thursday.

Friday finally arose with all of the mums proudly displayed. All the excitement of the yearly "holiday" was expressed at the pep rally. The Drill Team performed their "splish-splash" routine and the audience loved it Homecoming '81 was a huge success as always everyone had a terrific time!

Visions of Festivity

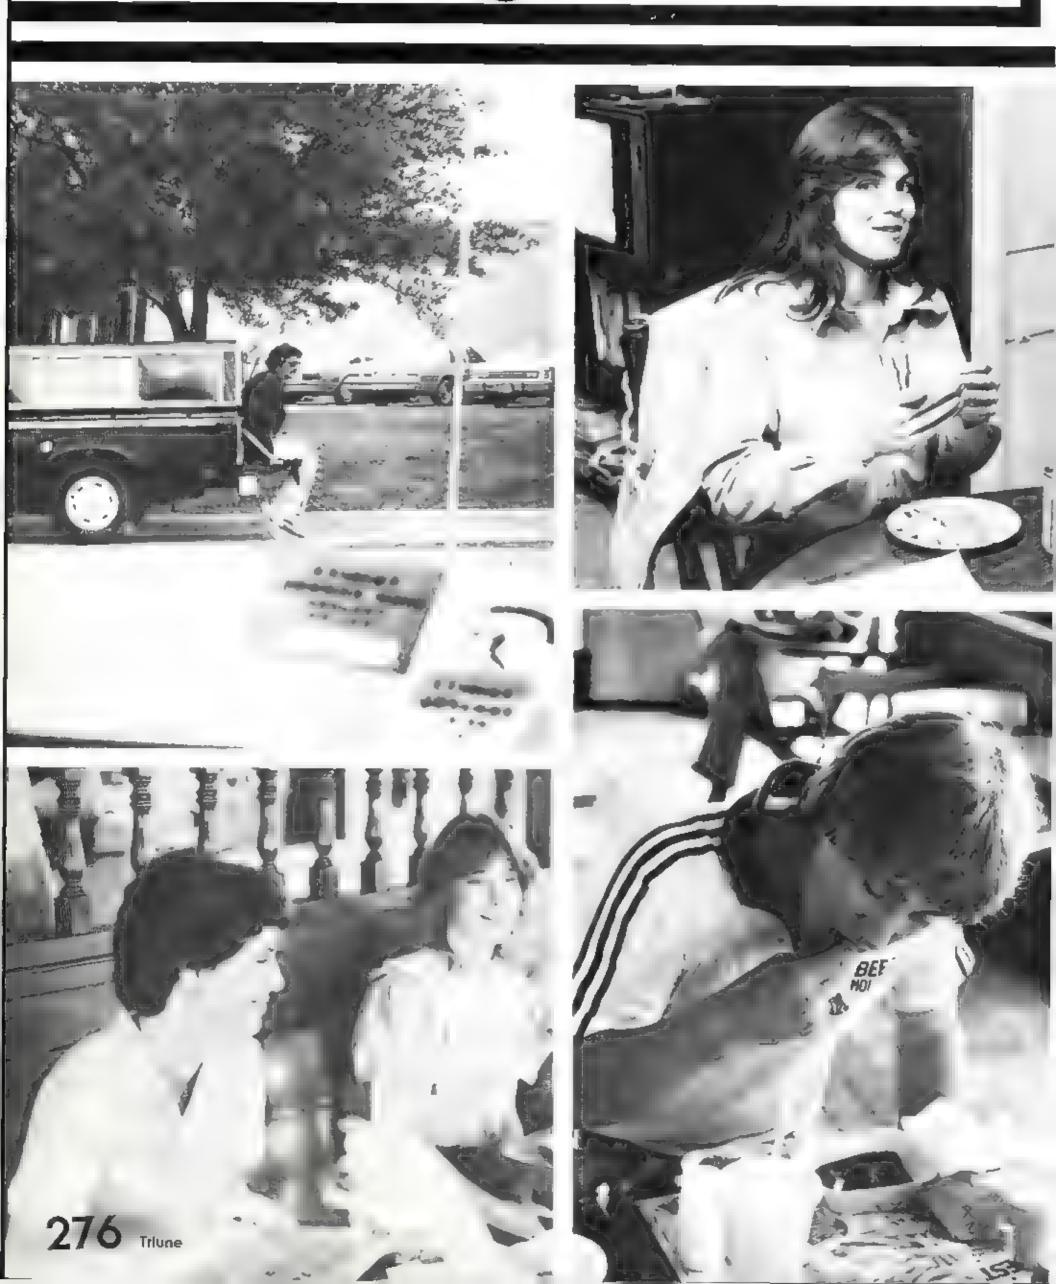

Homecoming! What does that mean to you? To the Trojans it means spirit week, hall decorations, flowers, and, of course, float building

Many long and hard hours were spent on the construction of all three class floats as well as the organizational groups that participated in float building. The students worked after school and hours into the night to prepare the floats for display. Although the parade was cancelled due to unfortunate weather, the festivities went on. The floats were covered with plastic and put on display the next day on the mall area. They were judged according to color, orginality, and how well they followed school standards for the contest.

This year's winning float was built by the Junior class, which, along with the other floats, followed the theme of "When You Wish Upon A Stor." This theme was carried throughout the homecoming week.

Going Out for Lunch?

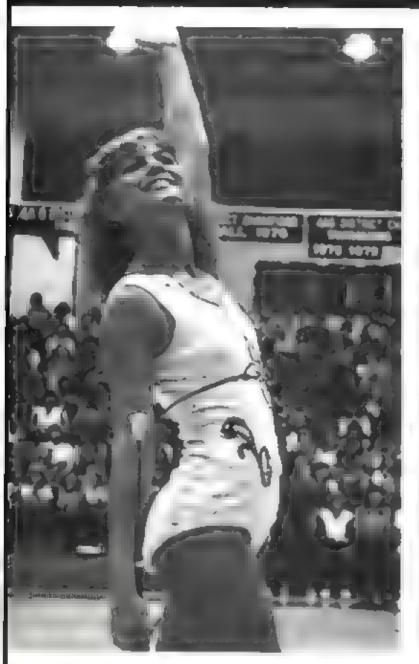

Going out for lunch may be both expensive and enjoyable; for Seniors it was an additional privilege which underclass men were not allowed to enjoy. The mass confusion of leaving the crowded parking for during funch showed the great number of Seniors who enjoyed this privilege.

The variety of eating establishments gave the taste buds a change. One could enjoy hamburgers at Wendy's, McDonald's, or Whataburger, as well as pizza at Pizza Inn or Napies, or finally Mexican food at Taco Bell or Taco Bueno. For those with seafood on their mind, Long John Silvers satisfied their desires. If money was short, or one was tired of the crowds while dining out, home provided a nice break for both the wallet and the hassels. Some students may have enjoyed a sandwich, chips and a Coke in front of a T.V. show to break up a busy schedule. Others, however, took advantage of a quick nap. While Seniors enjoyed going out for lunch, the underclassmen remained on campus and could only dream of this future privilege.

Spirit You Can See!

What was it that happened every Friday during football season at about 1 o'clock? Naturally, a pep tally. The stands quickly filled with spirited students eager to challenge each other with their yells. Soon the band began to play as the football team took their seats. The first measure of the pep rally always consisted of the nationally-ranked Troy-Anns. The Troy-Anns performed a new and different routine every week. The MOCT was a very colorful addition to pep rollies: these "rambunctious seniors" led our cheers and performed skits. "This is Your Life" was a series performed by MOCT. starring a different football player every week.

A major part of the pep rally was, of course, the band. Pep rollies just would not be the same without the rythmic participation of the drums, or the solos from the tubas. The cheerleaders and yellmen were something exciting to watch. Their pyramids and gymnostic stunts showed why they received so many superior ribbons at camp.

Student participation was quite evident at Trinity, and as you scoped the stands spirit was a noticed addition. The pep rallies at Trinity were always great boosters for the football team, this can only lead to Trinity being number one!

Trojans Dance With Spirit

"Are you going to the dance tonight?" This was a familiar question asked on a Friday night during football season. Many Trojans enjoyed the variety of dances sponsored by different clubs, classes and organizations. Some people went just to see who was there, some went because their friends went, but there were also those who "could have danced all night." Those that made an appearance caught the beat of the music, the fever of the dancing, and joined in the enjoyment of another dance in the THS cafeterla.

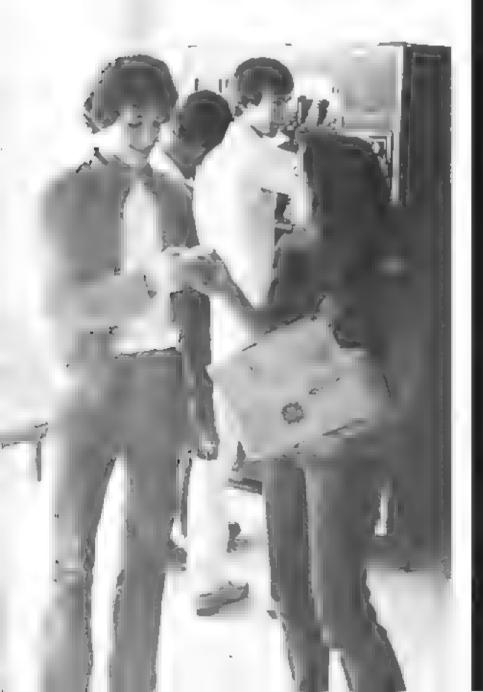

There was a variety of music to which one could dance. Plenty of country, disca and rock was to be heard. Throughout the year different types of dances were held. There was one for those who like to dress in O.P. shirts and sondies, one for those who like the western scene and some just "come as you are" dances. The beach party dance, western dance, after ski dance, Halloween dance and many more were all put on by different clubs, classes or organizations to roise money for different activities. The student body enjoyed plenty of music and dances throughout the year.

Fund Raisers Pay Off

The numerous organizations at Trinity held various fund raisers throughout the year. There was not a month that went by without at least one fund raising activity. They varied from the selling of candy, to kisses, and prom tickets. Each organization needed funds for activities and supplies.

The student council sold Trojan mugs. They also got funds with sing-a-grams and kiss-a-grams. The National Honor Society printed the student directory. The band sold magazines, and the baseball team sold window stickers and peppermints. Bumper stickers were sold by Spanish Club members, and teachers sold carnations for a senior scholarship fund.

Perhaps the most awaited sale was that of the annuals. The Triune Staff dedicated many hours of thought to devise an effective sales campaign. They decided, since the theme of the book was "Visions", to put up eyes everywhere Every cent raised in the annual sales went into the production and perfection of the 1982 Triune.

A Sight To Behold

What is Spirit Week? Well if you happen to be a student at Trinity, you know that spirit week is one of the most wild. weird, and fun weeks of the year. Spirit Week takes place the week before the Homecoming game. Each day of the week is named as something different and special. This year the most popular by far was "Punk Out the Panthers Day." On this very different Tuesday, the Trinity compus was flooded by "punks." Clothing was totally changed by this day, leopard skins, white hair, and of course "Deva glasses," were often seen. This was the first year for "punks" at Trinity, but with participation so great It is sure to return.

Other days students participated in during Spirit Week were College T-shirt Day, Prep Day, Plnk Day, and of course the traditional Red and Black Day.

Spirit Week happened twice this year. The second Spirit Week was the week before the Bell game. This week's list of days started with "Shade Out the Raiders Day," when everyone wore their "shades." "Nerd Day" was a new one added this year and, as expected, Hat Day returned. The Spirit Week at Trinity was a fun way for students to get away from the day-to-day routine, and were participated in greatly.

A Time for Caring

There are two holidays formally acknowledged by the THS students, Christmas and Valentine's Day, Many activities were planned for these special occasions.

The Christmas spirit of caring and giving was created in a variety of ways. For one, the Student Council held a party for the less fortunate children of the area. The Christmas cards that were sent to student's second or third period classes were another big success. The faculty also participated in the exultant season by decorating classrooms and supplying a colorful tree in the Administration Office which enlightened seasonal spirits.

Another holiday the students enjoyed was Valentine's Day. Sing-o-grams and kiss-o-grams were provided by the Student Council and carnations by the Senior Class, Students could send a humorous, mushy, or sarcastic sing-o-gram to anyone. Sending a carnation to someone special as a secret admirer developed the loving mood of Valentine's Day.

The holidays and activities were enjoyed by both the students and the faculty. They provided a diversion to the regular hassles of the day.

Van Halen has to be one of the most zany groups on stage, With Reunion Arena sold out, their show was a complete success. Van Halen's show was on September 10th, with David Lee Roth as wild as ever, For those who had witnessed Van Halen before, the show followed the usual guide lines. Roth. with his handy bottle of "Jack" proceeded on with the concert. Although the drums and guitars were at peak, Roth's words seemed to become jumbled as the show came closer to an end. Even through all of this, the fans were full of vivacity and cheer. The show was a success, selling multitudes of hats. Tshirts, and of course those plas that appeared on everyone's letter jackets.

Quotes:

Denise Theder: "Oh Mani Eddle Van Halen is so good-lookin'!"

Scott Ferguson: "Roth had an incredible stage performance that radiated out into the audience. You could feel the excitement!"

Jimmy Hall: "The Van Halen concert was excellent! Van Halen really knows how to rock and how to get the audience into the show!"

Quotes:

Bridgette Hixon: "Journey put on a really terrific concert, the way Steve Perry ran all over the stage made it even more exciting I really enjoyed it."

Korhy Thompson. "I thought the concert was excellent. Steve Perry created an excited tension among the crowd and combined with the music and songs, made the concert the best, in my opinion

Another one of America's number one rock bands reached Dallas on November 7th and 8th. After the release of their live CAPTURED album, their success rose. No one realized, however, that something like ESCAPE would follow, to bring Journey's success to a peak. With many number one hits on the ablum, Journey arrived in concert with all of their rock tunes as well as the mellow tunes that brought on their great success.

Of the two shows presented, the first was a complete selfout. The second show was so close to a selfout that only obstructed view seats remained. A complete variety of music was witnessed, as each member of the band pleased the audience with a solo of each instrument. As a different addition, a new member of the band, Jonathan Cain, performed a piano solo that entranced the audience. Appearing as a wormup for Journey was none other than Lover-boy, whose performance was also superb.

Although many think of Journey as a mellow band, this is not completely so. Steve Perry, with his amazing and unique voice, racked the audience throughout the show. The band proved itself superior as they finished up the concert with an amazing presentation. Each member of the band was introduced on a huge screen and captioned with their own credits. Finally, the ESCAPE cover design was flashed on the screen as the show came to a fulfilling close.

Does
Texas
Really
Have
the Best
Rock?

Announced on the radio one fall day was news that caused an uproof ... "The Rolling Stones will be here in Dallas on October 31st and November tst." People from all around started scraping money together to acquire tickets for this "earth shaking event." As the date for ticket sales grew nearer, the anxiety was reaching a peak. The day to purchase tickets arrived and the popularity of the Stones was evident as they sold out the Cotton Bowl within one day. As if this wasn't enough for Mick and his crew, a date for yet another show prose. Just as with the first, this world renowned group sold out the Cotton Bowl for a second time.

It was clearly stated on the tickets that the show was to go on, it quoted, "opening 12:00 noon — RAIN OR SHINE." This statement was not false in the least, as October 31st was an extremely wet and rainy day. The weather conditions were not to slow the crowd, as the Cotton Bowl was packed. Although the show began at 12 noon with two warm up bands, the show proceeded hours on into the darkness. Many spectators spent 12 to 16 hours at the Cotton Bowl for this once-in-a-lifetime show.

As expected the Stones concerts were extremely successful. The promotional items. T-shirts, pins, and hots were obvious in student attire during the days following the shows. All in all the Rolling Stones appearance in this area was definitely the high point in the year's concert agenda.

Quotes:

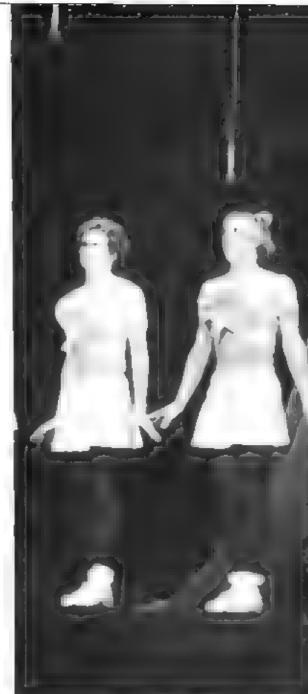

Jim Stubblefield: "Mick and the boys were showing their age, but the sheer excitement of seeing the Stones live made it more than a memorable occasion."

Randy Davis: "It was the best concert feasibly possible, (due to the weather) to see an institution like the Rolling Stones."

Circus Seen on Stage

This year's talent show was another success due to the skillful direction of Mrs. Jan Schronk. The theme for this year's show, which was presented by the Thespian Troupe 1776, displayed several aspects of a colorful circus. Like the circus, the talent show offered a wide variety of acts. From the delightful singing of Dan Hall and Tracy Forney, to the dynamic dancing of Par Culbert, one perceived that this was not an ordinary talent show. The audience obviously enjoyed the limitless ideas for acts. In all, there were thirty-six performances. Each one was different from any other act.

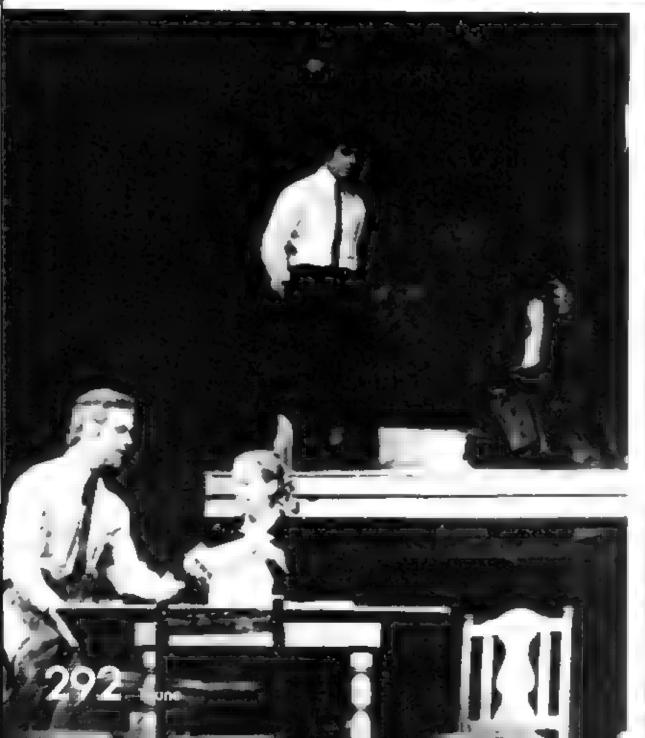

The ringmoster for the evening was J. C. Caffrey, who told the attentive audience about the oncoming acts. The stage band contributed to a good portion of the talent show by performing three numbers. Their precision and jazz beat was enjoyed by all. Of course what would the talent show have been without the traditional routine of the Troy-MEN? Yet, moments later the real Troy-Anns, The Struttin' Studs, retaliated with their version of a Trojan football victory. Certainly, if this year's talent show was missed, it was a loss to the individual.

Spotlights

Tryouts began for the big production, The Diary of Anne Frank, only six short weeks before opening night. There were many tolented students trying out. This added difficulty in selecting the "best" person for the different parts. In selecting the leading role, Anne Frank, Mrs. Schronk had a seemingly hard task. There were three very talented girls who could have played Anne Frank very well. After approximately three auditions and a few headaches Mrs. Schronk decided on Katie Racz with Shannon McGrann as her understudy. The rest of the cast consisted of Pat Culbert as Mr. Frank, Shirley Wetter as Miep, Dori Swyhatt as Mrs. Van Daan, Paul Waschka as Peter Van Daan, J. P. Hunter as Mr. Van Daan, Alyssa Wilson as Mrs. Frank, Cyndl Fletcher as Margot Frank, Bob Hildreth as Mr. Kraler, Chris Clark as Mr. Dussel and Champers, the cat, as Mouschi. All the performers did an outstanding job with the directing assistance of Mrs. Schronk.

Stage Lights Go Up

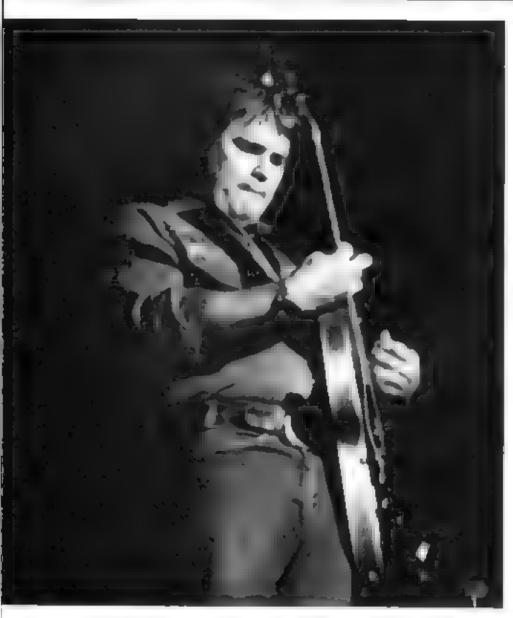

As the curtains drew back and the lights went up, an excellent cast portrayed The Diary of Anne Frank. The play opened during the years of World War II in Amsterdam. The scene was a hide-away room. Here the Frank and Van Daan families shared a few short years in hiding.

The actors performed with enthusiasm and expertise. Throughout the play, one caught the fear and hope the families partrayed.

Even though few people went to this production, It did not hinder the performance. It was performed three consecutive evenings and at two afternoon assemblies. One especially for the sophomores because it paralled with their study of the book, The Diary of Anne Frank. The hard work and many hours devoted to this was clearly stated in this much enjoyed play.

Country Creates a Sight

Several of Trinity's fall semester days of class were interrupted by assembles providing musical entertainment for the student body. Three bands were scheduled for concerts, while only two, the Travis Brothers and Sammy Vaughn, performed. The third band, Tommy Mercer and the Southfolk Band, failed to show up. The two bands performing provided an assortment of music for Trojan students.

In late October, for the second consecutive year, the Travis Brothers, presented by the French Club, returned to perform for the student body. The Travis Brothers played a variety of songs including arrangements by Kenny Rogers, Eddie Rabbitt, and the Beach Boys.

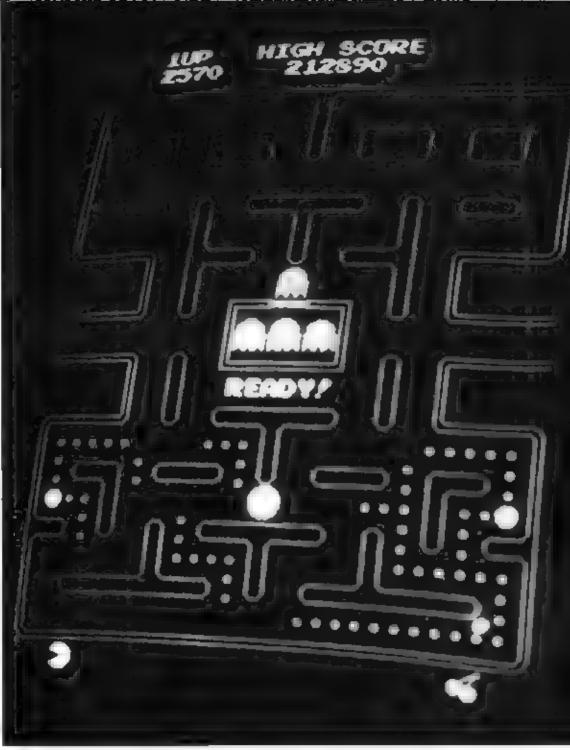

For what seems to be a tradition, Sammy Vaughn again returned to Trinity in early November to perform a concert. He was sponsored by the vacational programs and was a repeated success. Sammy Vaughn played songs of various artists including Larry Gatlin, Ronnie Milsap, and the popular group Alabama. As in the past, both entertainers put an excellent performances and the assemblies were successful and enjoyed by everyone.

Trojans Focus on World

The 1981-82 school year was filled with many unprecedented events. These ranged from royal extravaganzas to new authreaks of war. The year's activities affected the life of each Trinity student.

Before the students even arrived for the first day of school, they had already observed the most elegant event of the year: the wedding of England's heir to the royal throne, Prince Charles, to Lady Dlana Spencer. Within several months of this fairy tale wedding, Buckingham Palace announced the pregnancy of the new Princess of Wales

Economics also played a large part in the year's events. The year began with President Reagan's proposed 13 billion dollar spending cut. While using this as an attempt to balance the budget, Reagan also proposed to build the B-1 bomber and place MX missiles in hardened, existing missile silos. Following this decision, new negotiations between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R began in Geneva over the reduction of medium range nuclear forces in Europe. These negatiations faced a major setback when Wojcielch Jaruzelski, the Polish Prime Minister, imposed military rule in Poland to counteract the growth of the labor union Solidarity. As a result of the Communist rule, economic sanctions were enacted against Poland and the U.S.S.R. in retaliation towards their intervention.

Other world events this year included the U.S. Space Shuttle and its several flights plagued by technical and atmospherical complications. Despite these difficulties much useful information was learned, especially for future flights. Soon after the March Space Shuttle flight, a new crisis arose which may have been the most influential of the year. The Faulkland Islands dispute brought the reality of war and the draft closer to the U.S. Argentine citizens and THS students, Walter and George Puricelli, especailly felt the confrontation in the extreme South Atlantic.

Closer to home the closing of school also found the closing of Brantff Airlines, forcing same out of school students to compete for jobs with out of work parents. The year's end saw no real hope in the near future for the airline's reopening.

In the year that Walter Cronkite retired, that's the way it was.

1982 Overseas Trip

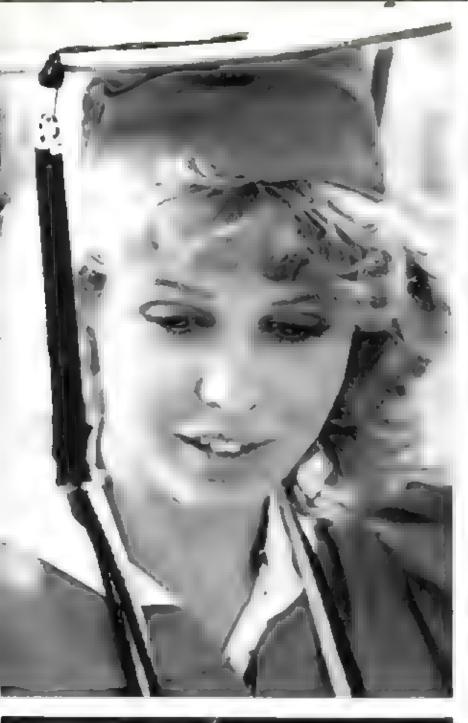

Germany, France, and Switzerland were the components of this year's exciting over-seas trip. The group of forty-nine students, parents, and sponsors thoroughly enjoyed the tenday visit exploring new cultures and customs. The trip started out with a two-night stay in Mainz, Germany, with the major activity having been a cruise down the castle laden Rhine River. Then It was on to Paris, the "City of Light", after a short stop at the Reims Cathedral. In Paris they saw sights including the Eiffel Tower, the Arch of Triumph, the Louvre, and Versailles. The next stop was Lucerne, Switzerland, which was considered by many to have been the most beautiful of the countries visited. The activity options in Lucerne were numerous. Eleven people opted to go skling on the snow-capped Swiss Alps. Others went on a mountain cable lift reaching altitudes of 7,000 feet. The test spent the entire day shapping for souvenits, watches, or cuckoo clocks. The next morning offered the drive through the scenic route past the Swiss Rhine River Falls and the German Black Forest to Heidelberg. The trip ended there with an exhausted group departing from Frankfurt who were glad to be going home, but with an experience of a lifetime that will never slip from their memories.

Ceremony Fills Seats

The Trinity High School Baccoloureate occurred at 8 30 on the beautiful marning of May 23rd. With heavy thunderstorms occurring during the preceding week, students and administrators alike hoped for a nice day Seniors met early Sunday morning in Trinity's cafeteria, as lines were formed they began to march to the auditorium. The Graduates made their entrance to the triumphant sound of the band. The auditorium was filled with red caps and gowns.

The Baccalaureate had a very successful turnout, filling every seat in the house. Dawson McCallister was Trinity's guest speaker. Dawson, although he does not do Baccalaureates very often, made a special trip to Texas just to appear at Trinity. Dawson gave a very realistic picture of the possible autcome of some of the Senior Class' members. His inspirational message hit the hearts of the many seniors in the audlence. This was a morning to be remembered by all the Graduates of Trinity High School.

The Big Night..

What a Prom! Yes, and what a night! The evening began with a D.J. and a live band at one of the most extravagant places ever built. the Las Colinas Country Club. Considering the choices of different music, there was offered a variety of all. In one large room was a live band who called themselves, coincidentally, "Trinity." This room was surrounded by windows reaching from the ceiling to the floor. Also, on one side, was a balcony overlooking the scenic Las Colinas area. Located down the half was another room filled with the sounds of all of the popular songs. These songs were played by the D. J., David Geibler. This room was considerably smaller with a beautiful patio area for a guick cool breeze. There was music played in both rooms from Rock to Disco to Punk.

All in all, the graduating Seniors had a very successful prom and a memorable three years at Trinity.

A Swinging Success

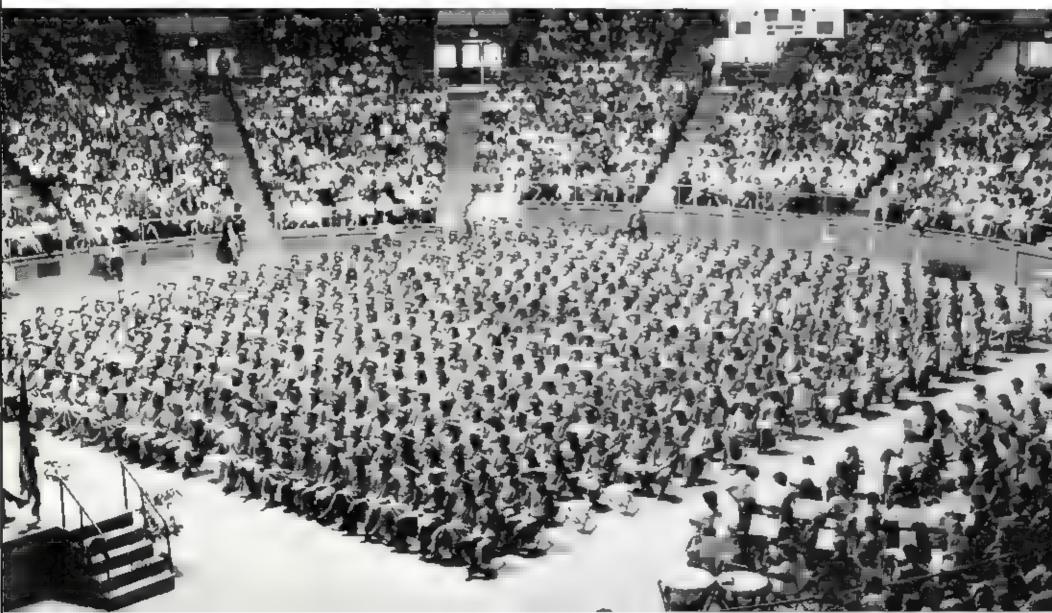

Seniors Visualize Future

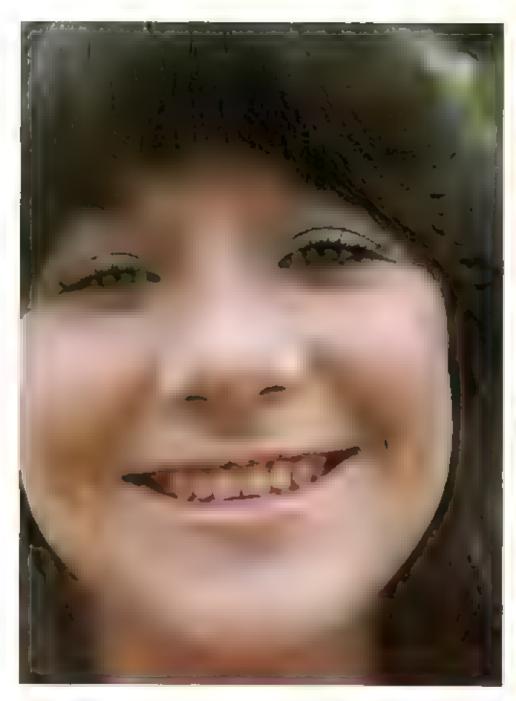

As the last final was taken, smiles appeared on senior faces. They realized that graduation was just a breath away. Masses upon masses lined up on May 21st to collect caps and gowns. During this time hot dogs were served to the hungry seniors by the PTA: this was a great success and It also added in passing time for the restless crowd. Hours passed and individuals drifted away, but they would meet again for Baccolaureate practice. The Baccolaureate ceremony took place at 8:30 Sunday morning, May 23rd. this began the final days of the senior year.

The members of the senior class approached T.C.U. Monday morning for a trial run of the evening's ceremony. As Monday night May 24th came closer anticipation was at its peak. Each senior anxiously walted his turn to cross the stage. The night ended with elation on the part of most graduates, but there were also tears. Many seniors looked back to all of the years that they had finally completed, and knew that now everything was to start over ... a new school or a new life.

Time

Time is a thief
On stealthy feet,
It robs us of many things,
Of life and love;
A kiss once lost
Is never regained,
No matter how long
You pursue it.

Eric Juengerman

Through all of the months of school students were always most eager for the last few days, but they always arrived too soon. While students sot in class they felt the year would never end. Through special times like homecoming, prom, and graduation, however, most wished it could have lasted forever. Those days were short though seemingly long, and years pass all too quickly. Those were the days we will always remember as our high school years.
